Attorney-General's Chambers

Expectations/ Scope of Internship	In 2027, the Attorney-General's Chambers will be offering two tranches of the internship programme, each of a three-week duration, designed to introduce applicants to what AGC does, and to find out how Legal Service Officers (LSOs) in the AGC make a difference every day. AGC's internship programme gives interns broad exposure to our work as the Public Prosecutor and Legal Advisor to the Government. All interns will be rotated among the Crime Division, Civil Division, International Affairs Division, and Legislation Division. Through a comprehensive and structured programme, interns will be directly exposed to a wide range of advisory, legislative drafting, prosecution, litigation and negotiation work, and will meet and work alongside many of our LSOs. Interns will be exposed to the seldom-seen, behind-the-scenes deliberations that shape and inform the Attorney-General's / Public Prosecutor's decisions. Apart from observing and assisting, interns will also have the opportunity to hone their litigation, advocacy, negotiation, advisory and drafting skills in simulated exercises based on real-life cases. To answer any questions and to give deeper insight into life at AGC, mentors will be assigned to interns for the entire internship programme, and the interns will also have the opportunity to speak to seasoned LSOs in management roles at each division.
