

ANNEX E-7: BUDGET 2026 U-SAVE

Eligible Singaporean households living in HDB flats and whose household members do not own more than one property will receive 1.5 times the amount of regular GST Voucher (“GSTV”) – U-Save in Financial Year (“FY”) 2026. This helps households with their utilities expenses, and cushions the impact of higher utilities bills due to an increase in the carbon tax from $25/tCO<sub>2e</sub> to $45/tCO<sub>2e</sub> from 2026.

In total, eligible HDB households will receive up to $570 of U-Save rebates in FY 2026. Refer to Table 1 for the scheme details. This will cover about five months of utilities expenses for those living in 1- and 2-room flats, and about two months of utilities expenses for those living in 3- and 4-room flats.

The Budget 2026 (“B2026”) U-Save and regular GSTV – U-Save will benefit more than 1 million Singaporean households.

B2026 U-Save will be credited to eligible households’ utilities accounts with SP Services Limited together with the regular GSTV – U-Save in April 2026 and July 2026 (see Table 1).

Table 1: Disbursement of U-Save in FY 2026

Total		$570	$510	$450	$390	$330

Notes:

- a. If the flat is partially rented out or not rented out, there must be at least one Singaporean owner or occupier in the household to be eligible for U-Save. If the entire HDB flat is rented out, there must be at least one Singaporean tenant.
- b. Households whose members own more than one property are not eligible for U-Save.
