Improving Commuting Experiences

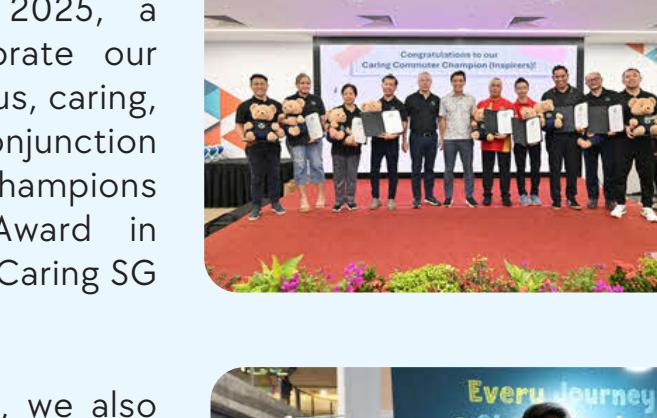

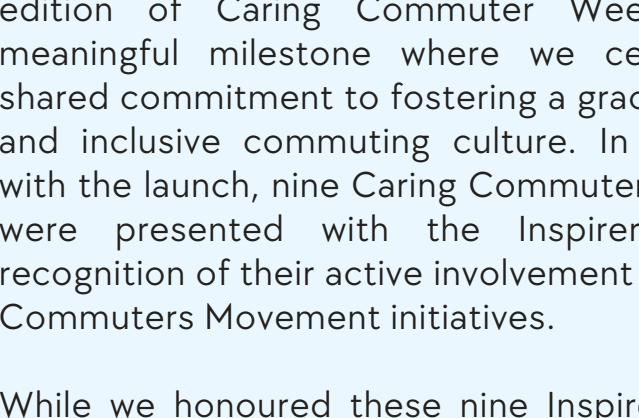

Spreading Love and Care on Public Transport. Find out what's new!

CARING COMMUTER CHAMPIONS SPOTLIGHT

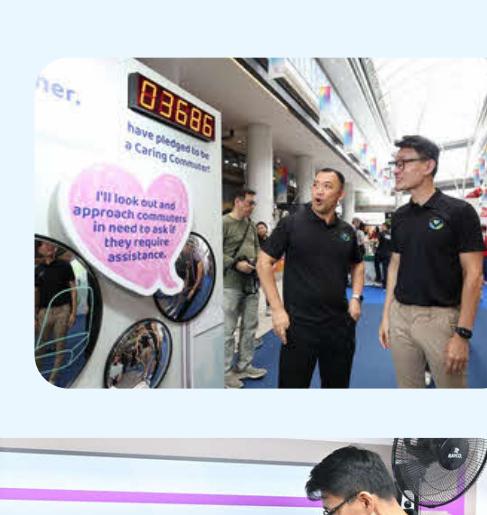

Lim Wen Jie and Keane Phua, two of our dedicated Caring Commuter Champions, took part in Go-Ahead Singapore's annual roving bus tour at Punggol Coast Bus Interchange, alongside participants with dementia and their caregivers from Allkin Singapore on 29 November. During the tour, they provided attentive support, helping participants better understand how the interchange's inclusive features make commuting more accessible.

They also put their Caring Commuter Champions e-learning course knowledge into practice by engaging warmly with beneficiaries and offering timely assistance throughout the experience, helping to make the day both meaningful and reassuring for all involved.

CARING COMMUTER WEEK 2025

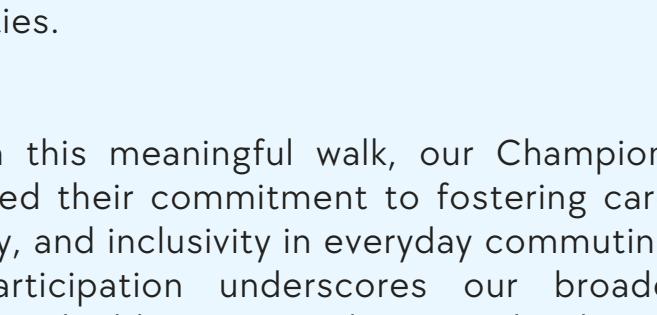

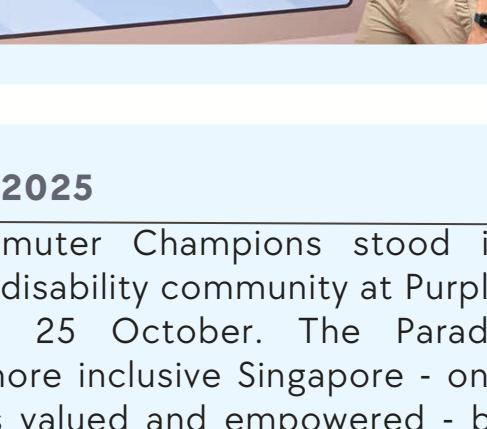

15 November marked the launch event of the fifth edition of Caring Commuter Week 2025, a meaningful milestone where we celebrate our shared commitment to fostering a gracious, caring, and inclusive commuting culture. In conjunction with the launch, nine Caring Commuter Champions were presented with the Inspirer Award in recognition of their active involvement in Caring SG Commuters Movement initiatives.

While we honoured these nine Inspirers, we also extend our deepest gratitude to each of our 16,000 Champions. Every act of consideration you demonstrate contributes to this collective achievement.

The event featured an interactive escape room, where participants navigated scenarios to see how transport features and commuter behaviours create inclusivity. The exhibition also included our Caring Commuter Pledge wall, where the public committed to considerate behaviours, and a showcase of the caring acts of the Caring Commuter Award winners.

PURPLE PARADE 2025

Our Caring Commuter Champions stood in solidarity with the disability community at Purple Parade 2025 on 25 October. The Parade advocates for a more inclusive Singapore - one where everyone is valued and empowered - by celebrating the abilities of Persons with Disabilities.

Through this meaningful walk, our Champions reaffirmed their commitment to fostering care, empathy, and inclusivity in everyday commuting. This participation underscores our broader mission to build a more inclusive and cohesive society, a key pillar of Singapore's social compact.

Want to make a difference too or share your own story of care from your commute? We'd love to hear from you and feature your experiences.
