

Modern Shophouse Style

This style features the innovative use of very thin concrete fins and air vents on the building facade that are both functional as well as decorative. The windows are well proportioned to complement the geometric design of the facade. This style is in line with the International Movement towards functionalism, less ornamentation and the use of modern materials. The style reflects the post war economic situation and the needs of the middle-class for modern facilities.

