MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE CENTRE FOR LIVEABLE CITIES AND MÉXICO POR EL CLIMA

7 October 2026 – Singapore’s Centre for Liveable Cities (CLC), and México por el Clima (MPC), signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to work together in promoting knowledge and experience exchange on sustainable and liveable cities and communities; as well as showcasing these outcomes at relevant international forums in Singapore and Mexico City.

2 The MoU was signed by Hwang Yu-Ning, Executive Director, CLC, and Erica Valencia, Executive Director, México por el Clima.

Objectives of the MoU

3 This MoU, a first between CLC and MPC, arose from both parties recognising the collaborative benefits of exchanging knowledge and best practices through convening cross-sectoral practitioners in the areas of sustainable urban planning, biodiversity, regenerative cities, climate and territorial resilience.

4 Under this MoU, CLC and MPC aim to build and share knowledge, experiences and methods to promote liveable and sustainable cities and communities through and by organising programmes and activities including hosted site visits, knowledge-sharing sessions such as lectures and webinars, symposiums and conferences in Singapore and Mexico City. In addition, both parties can co-curate events or sessions alongside, or at, climate forums, bringing together global city and industry leaders, such as at the Mexico Climate Action Week 2026, the World Cities Summit Mayors Forum 2027 in Mexico City, and the World Cities Summit 2028 in Singapore.

5 The MoU will also facilitate both parties to design and implement capability development and study visit programmes. This follows a fruitful trip to Mexico City in 2026 as part of CLC’s EDGE Milestone programme on urban governance.

6 CLC and MPC will leverage on and amplify each other’s connections by sharing precedents and global references to wider international networks of advisors and contacts. This will broaden the reach of the thought leadership and mindshare of both parties.

7 Ms Hwang Yu-Ning, Executive Director of CLC, said, “CLC is delighted to work with our MPC counterparts in advancing efforts to continue building liveable and sustainable cities and communities. We are optimistic that our coordinated efforts will widen the impact of our collaboration and further rally global cities and practitioners to address common global urban issues.”
