Purposes of The Growth Hub

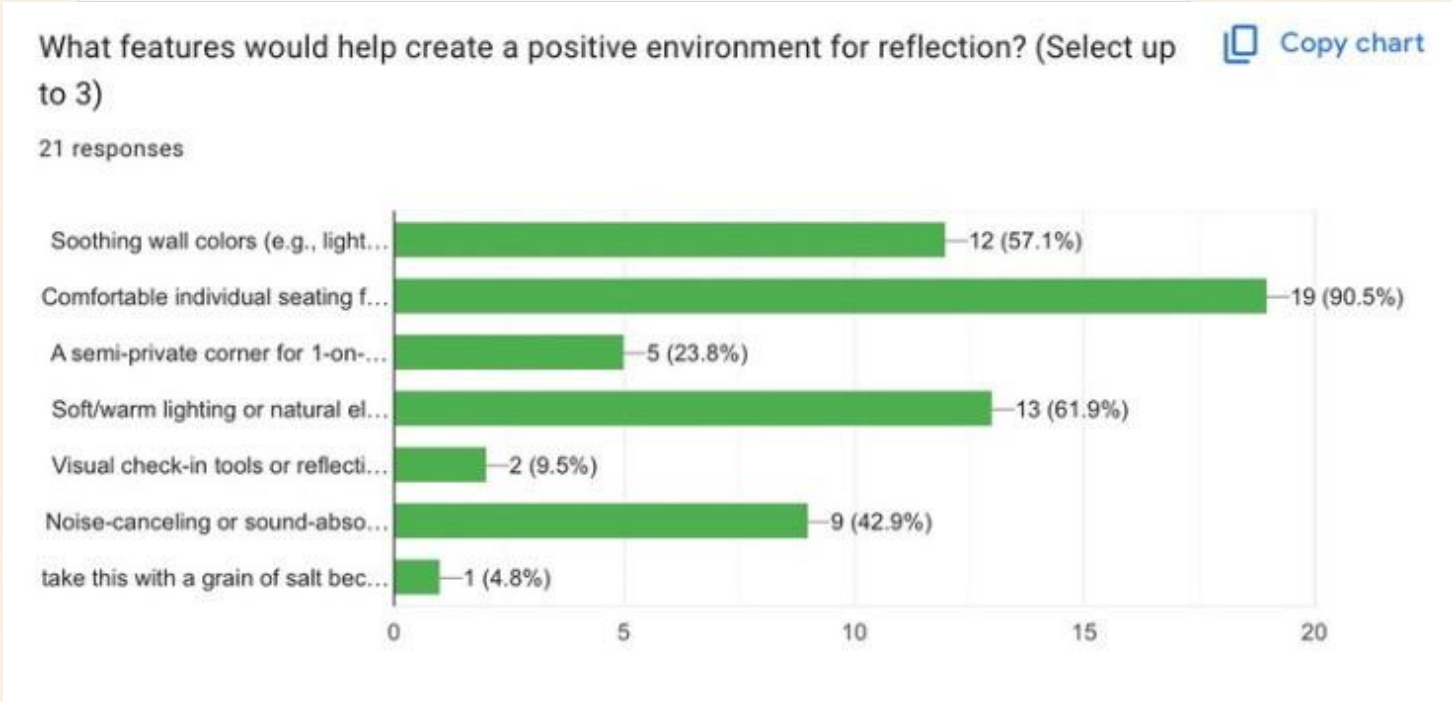

The ‘Detention Room’, which will be renamed ‘The Growth Hub’:

1. Restore Discipline: Rebranding from a traditional, punitive detention room into a supportive environment focused on growth and accountability
2. Regulate and Reflect Emotions: Provide a calm, structured space where students can process their emotions, reflect on their actions, and learn constructively

Current issues faced:

1. Too cramped, unsuitable for conducive reflection
2. Not serving the purpose of learning and growing effectively
3. Unwelcoming environment

Key Design Feature 1:
Tree Post-it Mural Wall

How will this work?

- Invite art students/volunteers to paint up the Tree
- Students attending detention can paste a leaf-like post it note on the branches
- After awhile, the older notes can be removed and perhaps preserved in a file

Purpose of the Tree Mural:

- Makes reflection more visible
- Serves as an inspiration for other attendees, by highlighting the change in emotions/attitudes

Key Design Feature 2: Cultivating a Conducive Environment

Transformation:

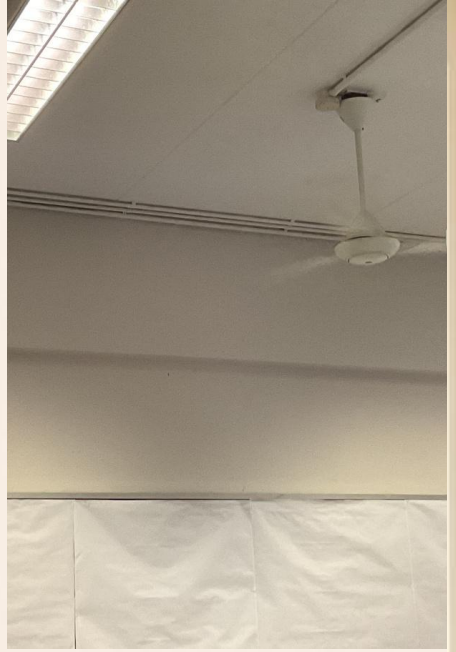

From conventional and bland coloures to distinct and warmer coloures

Before:

- White Walls
- Black tiles

After:

- Off-white/biege walls
- Wood-like tiles

Key Design Feature 3: Furniture, Seating, etc

Possible Furniture for the growth hub:

- Bean bags: Comfortable seatings+Encourage small group discussions
- Usual Tables and Chairs/Long table: Individual reflection
- Book shelf: Stores non-fictional resource books

(Faces the school garden)

How we will put this in action teachers to conduct reflection based discussions

- 1 on 1 talk with students who may need extra help
  - ask if they are struggling with anything and how to help
- rearrange the tables into a group arrangement
  - reflect with each other and give positive feedback to each other change wall paper and tiles to make the room feel more welcoming and less dreaded

- makes them feel not so hopeless chairs in synergy room and library tables can be used

- chairs are more comfortable and tables are easy to be arranged

ask art students/teachers or volunteers to paint tree base

- students to write positive/encouraging notes on leaf shaped post its
  - older notes can be taken down and stored when newer notes are written
