Dear Parents/Guardians,

ViaRT Art Award 2026 – “Future Fossils: What Will We Leave Behind?”

1 The 7th ViaRT Art Award is an Art competition that encourages young people to explore sustainability through creativity and recycled materials. This competition is held in support of the National Environment Agency’s (NEA) Say YES to Waste Less Campaign, which aims to motivate the public to adopt sustainable behaviours in their daily lives by reducing disposables and food wastage as well as recycling right.

2 This year’s theme, “Future Fossils: What Will We Leave Behind?”, challenges students to imagine an archaeologist in the year 3026 discovering objects left behind by us today. Students are invited to transform used plastic bottles, jars, caps and packaging into meaningful artworks or functional design pieces. Through this experience, students can explore how our everyday choices affect the environment and how we can reuse, rethink and give materials a new life.

3 Competition Details

Theme	The inspiration or theme behind each piece of art should relate to (1) Make an artwork or design item to address the recycling and over-consumption of single-use plastics including plastic bottles, jars, bottle caps and packaging materials. (2) Any other sustainable angles. Eg: sustainable fashion, plastic reduction, promotion of material recycling, and etc.
Artwork medium	Use upcycled materials as your main creation material. There is no media or material restriction. You are encouraged to use as much found and unwanted materials from your home, school and immediate surroundings, and less new materials. Be creative in your medium and expression!
