ECHOES OF REGENT

2026 Semester 1 Edition

The Echoes of War: History Comes Alive

History came alive for Secondary Two students who participated in a learning journey to the former Ford Factory. Students interacted with artefacts, archival footage and authentic firsthand accounts that increased their understanding of Singapore's past in a meaningful way. Guided by inquiry, they explored the Fall of Singapore and the nation's post-war recovery. By stepping into historical spaces, students deepened their appreciation for Singapore's past and the resilience that shaped its future.

Thinking Ahead at the NUS Geography Challenge

In February, four students proudly represented the school at the NUS Geography Challenge 2026 organised by the National University of Singapore. Centred on the theme 'City for Tomorrow: Shaping our Liveable Future', the competition invited participants to examine sustainability, housing, transport and climate resilience. Through challenging tasks and insightful discussions, the students sharpened their analytical thinking and broadened their understanding of urban issues. Engaging with like-minded peers from other schools and tackling authentic questions not only brought Geography to life beyond the classroom, but also nurtured their passion for the subject and awareness of how they can shape better cities for the future.

Let's R.O.W. (Reduce Our Water): World Water Day

World Water Day came alive through a vibrant series of activities centred on this year's theme, 'Water and Gender'. Learning was enriched by presentations delivered by our Environment Champions who shared how access to clean water shapes the lives, education and opportunities of women and girls worldwide. The Environmental Science students then heightened their peers' awareness through curated displays showcasing global water issues and Singapore's water-saving goals. Excitement grew through Blooket quizzes, escape room challenges and interactive booth games that encouraged teamwork while sharing practical habits. Through these experiences, students strengthened their understanding of sustainability and recognised their role in protecting every drop of water.

Aspiration Programme

Fresh possibilities and future ambitions took centre stage as Regenites kicked off the year with the Aspirations Programme. Through the Start Right ECG cohort activities, students explored a wide range of educational and career pathways in engaging and meaningful ways. Secondary Two students engaged in the Career Life Game Design to explore career opportunities through interactive scenarios. Meanwhile, the Upper Secondary students embarked on different learning experiences to broaden their understanding of various post-secondary pathways. These included invited speakers from various industries and learning journeys to post-secondary institutions such as the different polytechnics that enabled students to start the year afresh and set their goals for the upcoming academic year.

Taiwan Immersion Programme

As part of post-exam activities in October last year, fourteen students represented the school on a four-day learning journey to Taiwan, gaining global exposure through visits to Hsinchu and Taipei. The journey began with an immersion experience at Pei Ying Junior High School where students attended lessons, interacted with their Taiwanese peers and experienced daily student life there. They then explored coastal wind turbines, heritage sites and the local culture at Neiwan Old Street. Learning was then enriched in a sustainability workshop using recycled materials and a visit to the National Taiwan Science Education Centre. This trip encouraged meaningful connections and fostered greater appreciation for cultures beyond Singapore.

Integration Programme

Friendships and cultural connections took centre stage during the school's Integration Programme which brought together international and local students through a meaningful afternoon of shared experiences. Students broke the ice through games like BINGO and group sharings before bonding over local food and personal stories that promoted mutual understanding. The highlight of the event was the Linocut printing where students collaborated to produce innovative cutouts. Overall, the programme blended interactive, cultural and creative elements to strengthen relationships and cultivate a stronger sense of community, resulting in a meaningful and memorable experience for all participants.

Secondary One Orientation: A Joyful Beginning

Excitement and youthful energy filled the school hall as our Secondary One students began their journey in Regent. Centred on the theme of Class Values, the orientation programme enabled students to reflect on qualities such as resilience, teamwork and kindness through movie-based discussions led by their student leaders. Excitement grew during the Amazing Race where students solved challenges while learning to actively communicate and encourage one another. The school spirit soared through lively mass games and a vibrant Campfire Night filled with laughter, cheers and performances. From these activities, students forged friendships and a sense of belonging as they embarked on their secondary school journey.

Safer Internet Day: Building a Better Digital Future

In February, students marked Safer Internet Day through an engaging sharing session on healthy and responsible digital habits. Our Cyber Wellness Ambassadors started by guiding their peers in interactive discussions and analysing scenarios on online behaviour, encouraging reflection on everyday digital choices. Building on from these discussions, students explored respectful digital etiquette, the impact of digital footprints, and healthy screen time routines. Through the efforts of our student leaders, Regenites gained the knowledge and confidence to navigate the online world wisely and play their part in creating a safer internet for all.

International Friendship Day

In April, Regenites celebrated International Friendship Day through a vibrant line-up of activities revolving around the theme of 'Forging Friendships in a Complex World'. Regent's 'Wefie Challenge' encouraged creativity, asking our students to express the unique meaning of friendship to them through fun captions and lovely photos of our local and international students bonding together. Artistic flair continued as students designed two-day, one-night Singapore itineraries to share with their overseas friends, showcasing local heritage in imaginative ways. The celebrations culminated in presentations in the hall featuring travel itineraries to India, Myanmar, Malaysia and the Philippines. Each itinerary highlighted diverse customs and traditions. Through these experiences, students deepened their cultural appreciation and discovered how creativity connects people across borders.

ECG On The Move

The Education and Career Guidance (ECG) on the Move 2026 saw several ECG booths and panels set up next to the school canteen to encourage students to participate in an immersive ECG experience during their recess and lunch breaks. The three-day programme organised in the school allowed our students to explore job roles from different industries to gain a preliminary idea of various career types without even having to leave school. The discovery of potential career options and pathways helped to motivate the students while igniting their passion to pursue their dream courses in various post-secondary institutions of their choice.

Gratitude Challenge

In the final CCE lesson of Term 1, Regenites expressed their appreciation for one another through the CCA-led Gratitude Challenge. Students penned heartfelt letters to their seniors, participated in gratitude circles, and contributed messages to Gratitude Walls. For the Secondary One to Three students, it was an opportune moment for them to sincerely show their thanks and present well wishes to their seniors. For the graduating Secondary Four students, it was truly a chance to bring to a close their CCA journey, affirming how their contributions over the last three years had left an indelible impact on their juniors.

An Afternoon with Alumni

On 26 March, Regent hosted 'An Afternoon with Our Alumni' for the graduating students. Alumni from various post-secondary routes shared their advice on the different post-secondary pathways and personal experiences with their juniors. As the graduating cohort listened intently to the stories from peers who had been in their exact shoes not too long ago, the atmosphere in the room reflected a growing awareness of the need to think more intentionally about their life beyond secondary school. In doing so, they also began taking the first steps into their next academic journey with greater clarity and purpose, realising the importance of planning early.

Mother Tongue Language Fortnight

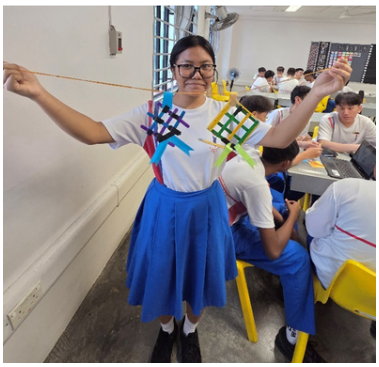

In March, Regent held its annual Mother Tongue Fortnight, allowing students to appreciate culture through a delightful variety of thoughtfully curated and fun hands-on activities. Our Secondary One students immersed themselves in the art of traditional puppetry while the Secondary Two students explored traditional writing systems that came long before the modern alphabet they learn today. The Secondary Three students learnt the value of discipline through traditional martial arts whereas the Secondary Four students expressed their creativity by participating in the creation of traditional crafts. The fortnight undoubtedly strengthened the students' appreciation of their own cultural roots and reminded them of the diverse heritage we share and enjoy in Singapore.

Hari Raya Celebrations

Regent celebrated Hari Raya Aidilfitri together as a school in March through an inter-class craft-making competition centred around creating iconic Hari Raya items. These items symbolised connection and togetherness and were made using simple recyclable materials such as ice-cream sticks. Each class designed and constructed meaningful pieces inspired by themes of reunion and family bonding. In doing so, they learnt about the significance of these symbols to the Muslim community. At the same time, they also managed to adopt sustainable habits by using their own recyclable materials. This celebration enabled our Regenites to appreciate Muslim traditions while strengthening our unity within a diverse community.

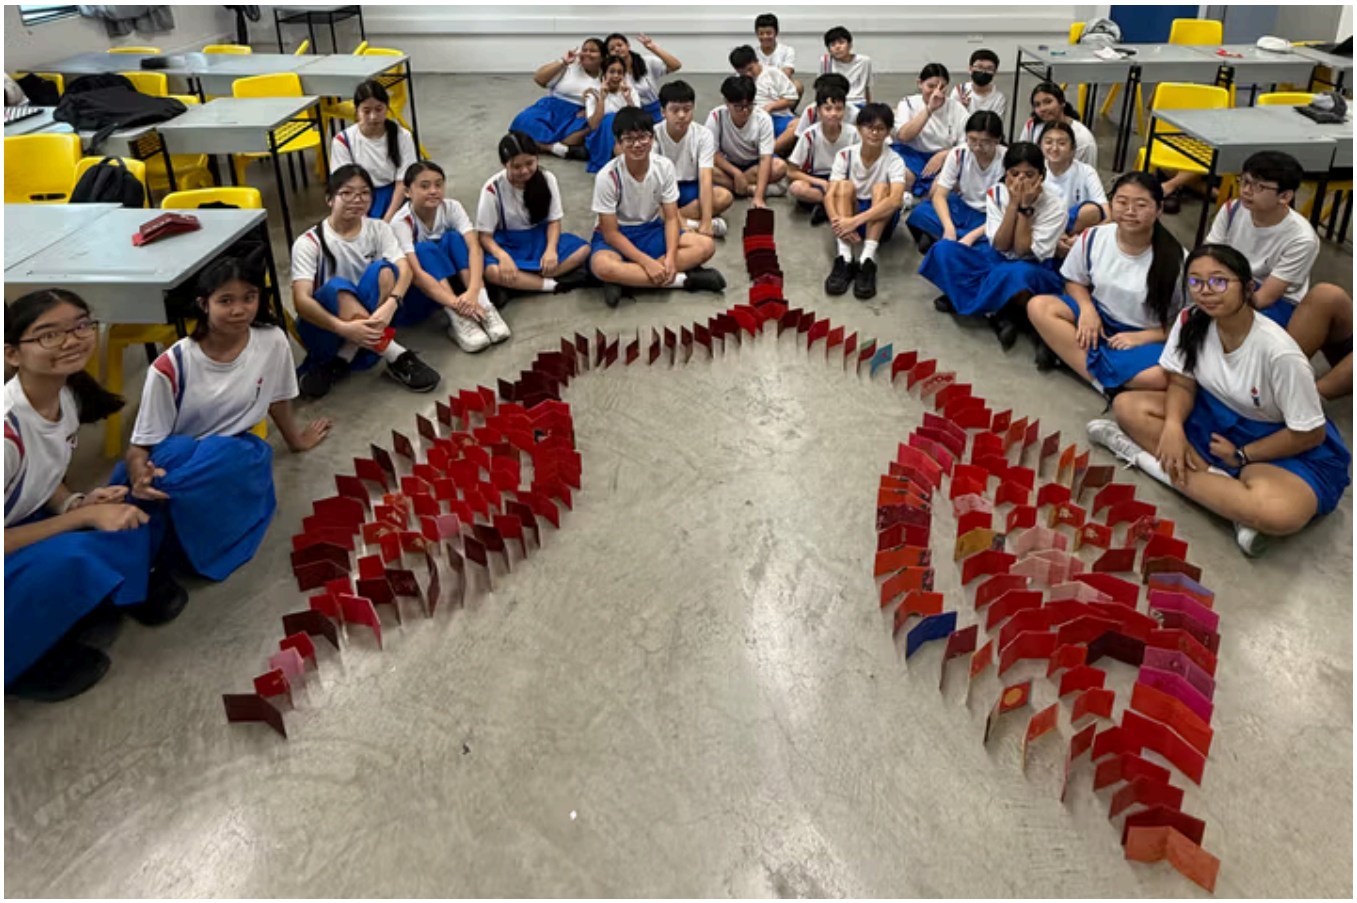

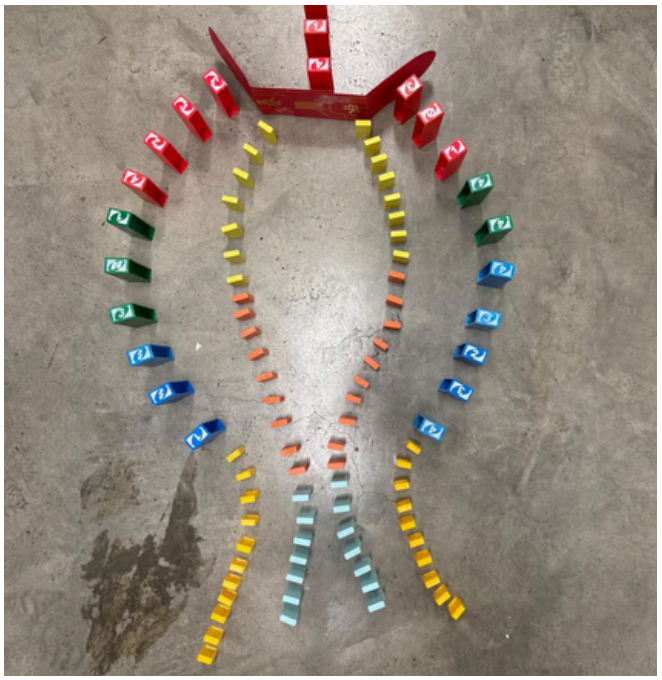

CNY Inter-Class Domino challenge

Regenites welcomed the Lunar New Year with colour, energy and creativity through an exciting inter-class Domino Challenge. Working together, each class designed intricate domino runs inspired by themes such as prosperity, renewal and unity, transforming festive symbols into moving visual displays. The experience was just as meaningful as the final topple. Students planned carefully to solve problems and encouraged one another throughout the process, strengthening class bonds along the way. Many classes also incorporated recycled materials into their designs, adding a timely message of environmental responsibility. The challenge reminded Regenites that as they partake in joyous celebrations of tradition, they also embark on collaboration, imagination and sustainable thinking.

Uniformed Group Passing Out Parade

As Term 1 came to a close, Regent held its annual Uniformed Group (UG) Passing Out Parade, a significant milestone that marked the culmination of years of discipline, commitment and service of the Secondary Four UG CCA Leaders. As the students stood in formation for the parade, the entire school community took a moment to recognise and applaud the dedication of these graduating cadets to the school and the wider community. The parade also marked the start of an exciting journey for the Secondary Three cadets who were stepping up to assume their new roles as CCA Leaders of their respective UG CCAs.
