PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

...what can you do, young men, to make this world a better place?

2014 has been an emotional year for many of us. You know there is this saying, "Real men don't cry." But I do not believe that is true. Some of the very best men who have ever lived have had occasion to cry. Tears of sorrow and tears of joy. Some of you shed tears as you saw your friends make bad choices. Some of you shed tears of grief at your own shortcomings. For some of you it was tears of relief. For all of you, this was a moment of true manliness. And you are in good company.

For instance, Jesus wept at his dear friend Lazarus's tomb. Curiously, this was despite the fact that, shortly, Jesus would raise Lazarus from the dead. So why did he cry? Perhaps he cried because of what death stands for – it is the ultimate symbol of our fallen world. Deep in all of us is a longing for a new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells where there will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain.

Until that day comes, what can you do, young men, to make this world a better place? What can you do to push back the darkness? Your task is both simple and extremely difficult. You can be the man God created you to be, uniquely you, different from other men. And rest assured, masculinity comes in all shapes and sizes.

Men are extremely important in society. We women have our strengths but it is impossible for us to play the roles that only men can play. It sounds old fashioned. But only men can be fathers. Only men can be brothers. A father is not a mother. A brother is not a sister. And a husband is not a wife. You lead in a different way from how we females lead. You have a greater focus, drive and passion. Some of you are passionate about the arts. Some of you are passionate about sports. Some of you are passionately curious about a particular field of knowledge – be it Physics, Literature, Design, Music, Mathematics. There are a few women like this. But you men are especially good at such passionate focus. It will be a sorry day and, in fact, it will be the death-knell of society should women outnumber men in leadership whether of homes, businesses or institutions like this. No. Men and women were made for partnership and that is what society needs us to be.

At our Founder's Day Service, Prof Freddy Boey was the guest-of-honour. He is a scientist who, as an engineer, has dedicated his research to assisting doctors to make revolutionary materials which have saved lives and improved the quality of people's lives – for example, saving people from blindness. Prof Boey encouraged us all to aim to have an impact rather than to simply aim to be successful. A true man is not merely a 'success'. A true man impacts the lives of others. Study such impactful men and seek to emulate them. This is true servant leadership. For such men bring light into an otherwise dark world and they are not afraid to weep even as they work to make this happen.

Mrs Lucy Toh

CHAPLAIN'S MESSAGE

Reading the theme for Founder's Day 2014 as well as for the School's Yearbook draws me to a song written by Steve Green (a Christian composer) entitled, "Find Us Faithful".

"We are surrounded by a cloud of witnesses" – a segment of a verse taken from a writer of Hebrews in the New Testament portion of the Bible (Hebrews 12:1) – is also part of the lyrics of the song.

Who are these witnesses? These are the people who have gone before us and who have faithfully kept their faith and trust in Jesus Christ, whom they recognised as their Lord and Saviour.

And now, they (the witnesses) are metaphorically cheering us on to remain faithful and to persevere on to the finish line. I can even imagine these witnesses cheering others to go on to the right track of life if they are off-coursed.

In our own respective life race, there will be many distractions or temptations or sins that will trip us and cause us to lose sight of the important finishing line. These are real and we have been warned. Hence, Steve Green's song keeps stressing on whether we will be found faithful.

Gratefully, the writer of Hebrews in the next verse (Hebrews 12:2) gives an instruction on how to run an effective and victorious life race – and that is to "focus on Jesus, who is the Author and Perfecter of our faith".

With Jesus as our vision, and the cloud of witnesses cheering us on, we can run our life race meaningfully well and purposefully well, just like many of our "elder comrades" of St Andrew's School.

May God grant each one of us the grace, blessings and encouragement to complete the race.

Up and On!

Rev Michael Teh

SERVICE:

The SASS Prefectorial Board, also known as the Student Government, provides a link between the management, staff and student population in the school. They are both leaders and servants at the same time as they perform their roles and work closely with the P/VPs/staff in many school events. The chosen Secondary 3 junior prefects and Secondary 4 C/VC/Senior prefects were commended by the Bishop, the Rt Rev Rennis Ponniah, at St Andrew's Cathedral on 7th March 2014. The prefects are chosen across all streams as the school looks for students with leadership and a big heart to serve the school.

FOUNDER'S DAY

ADDRESS BY MR FREDDY BOEY

Nobody is a nobody, at least as far as God is concerned.

Distinguished Guests,
Board of Governors,
Principals, Vice-Principals and teachers of St Andrew's School,
Prize Winners and their parents,
Members of the graduating class,

Today is a special home-coming of sorts for me. The last time I attended St Andrew's Founder's Day in 1975, I was the recipient of the 1974 Leong Gee Award.

I lived as a kid in Kolam Ayer village – 400m from the school, where the PIE is now. St Andrew's school, at least in my time, always had a lot more poor kids like me than otherwise. While I only attended one year as a Pre U student, it was easily the most meaningful year of my student life then. The reason was simple – I was very well received by the other students in the class, even though I came in, as it were, as an outsider. Not only that, the teachers received me very well, giving me special lessons in Economics and leeway in other subjects, enough for me to do well to win the Leong Gee Award. This hugely encouraged me to continue to study better in my undergraduate and PhD degrees, enough to become a professor.

I graduated as a Materials Engineer - they did not teach me to be materialistic, but taught me to understand materials we use to build and make things. In my work, I have used the understanding of how materials work to help cure or manage diseases. Glaucoma is the most dreadful disease and single highest cause of blindness in Singapore. It cannot be cured, but you can put a special eye drop that will slow down the blindness. But to completely stop it from getting worse, you will have to put eye drops 24 h a day for life. My team came up with a special nanomaterial that could combine with the drug and be injected into the eye, to continuously release drug for beyond 6 months. That brings great hope to Glaucoma patients who otherwise will simply wait to go completely blind. I hope that can encourage some of you - if you don't get to be a doctor, you can still become an engineer and scientist, and also contribute towards managing or healing sicknesses of people around us.

My inspiration to use my engineering skills to invent things to help heal sicknesses comes from two sources. One was the death of my older sister, because doctors could not remove or irradiate her cancer tumour right next to an artery for fear of puncturing it. At her deathbed, I was actually upset – I felt I could design something to do this. Though she died, I went on to invent a device that today has been bought into by Boston Scientific, one of the world's top biomedical companies. The other inspiration comes from my Christian faith and the example of the Lord Jesus Christ, how he went round healing people from all sorts of diseases.

Maybe not all of us will get to become doctors, or engineers or scientists who get to invent things to heal. But I have also learnt in my life, how anyone – and all of you - can make a huge difference in another person's life.

The Bible tells a story of a leper who came near Jesus to be healed. The law in those days forbids lepers to come to within 10m of another person. Leprosy is a terrible disease where your fingers, toes and other parts of your body can just rot and drop off. So the leper came up to a point, far enough from Jesus, then kneeled down and asked him to help. The Bible said that Jesus actually reached out with his hands to touch the leper, then healed him. The point is, Jesus voluntarily came so close to the leper as to be able to touch him. The leper was, I am sure, not just healed of leprosy, but of all the prejudice and rejection he had faced from neighbours, friends and perhaps even family.

You can learn from this lesson too. There are many people who get marginalized, rejected and ignored in the world, even in Singapore. Whenever we intentionally go out of our way to accept and receive such a person, we help them find their own worth in life. Nobody is a nobody, at least as far as God is concerned.

I suppose I take a lot of joy in being successful in my job and even more joy in being impactful in my scientific work. But I can tell you that I find the greatest joy in being able to, in God's Name, reassure someone else the worth of his or her life.

I hope the prize-winners among us will be inspired by your prize to continue to work hard, learn skills that will allow you to be both successful and impactful in your work. For others, the competition is not with others, but yourself, to do the best that you can, in whatever you go on to do. For all of us, I hope you will be inspired by God to bring Hope, Worth and God's Love to all people around you, especially those that have been marginalized.

SPEECH BY SCHOOL DUX

A very good morning to our guest-of-honour, Professor Freddy Boey, the principal Mrs Lucy Toh, vice-principals Mr Teo, Mr Shashi and Ms Jaslin, teachers, staff, parents and not forgetting, the life force of this school, my fellow students or rather, "my fellow Saints". I am honoured to be standing here today to give this speech. So let me start with a simple story....

On 2 August at 6.30pm, I received an SMS from someone who was none other than my former form teacher, Mr Kenson Go. In it, he said: "Hi! How are you faring? You have the honour of giving the Dux Speech on Founder's Day on 31 August. So do send me your draft soon :)". And that was the end of the message, but not the end of the story... It was actually a beginning for me...but the beginning of what?

Well, let's just say it was the beginning of a slight headache because I couldn't think of what to write, what to speak.... I thought of making an inspiring, motivational speech that could get you up on your feet and moving. I read about, listened to and even watched many videos, audios and speeches of famous speakers like Martin Luther King, Mahatma Gandhi, US Presidents Barrack Obama and Ronald Reagan....

But the thing is, I'm not any of those people. In fact, if you look at the top right hand corner of the hall, I believe my name is printed there. So who am I? I'm just Basheer Ahamed Hamid Maricar, a mouthful isn't it? I'm just an ordinary student from the class of 4SA and I studied here just like the rest of you. But yet, by the grace of God, if I am standing before you all today, there is a reason. And that reason, my friends, is what I call, the "Power of Choice".

Choice, by definition, is available to everyone and anyone. Your consequences depend on your actions and your actions depend on your choices. It all stems from the choices you made. The power of choice is very powerful, but you must know how to use it wisely because it can have a tremendous impact on your life.

When I was studying here, one thing that really got me thinking was a poster in the classroom C704, the homeroom of my A Maths teacher, Miss Lee Bin Choo. So the poster said, "The consequences you face are the results of the choices you make. So, you don't like your life? Change your choices". I also bring to you another example, quite an unexpected one I must say. There was a poem that was written over 2000 years ago. But the points that the author made are still relevant today. One of the lines says: Theedhum Nanrum Pirar Thara Vaaraa - which simply means, "Good or bad, these are not things that others give you, but rather, you reap what you sow."

So my friends, I would like to encourage all of you to make the right choices at every point in your life. I must confess I have not made many right choices in my past. But every time I make a wrong choice, I then make the correct choice to learn from my mistake, and not to repeat it again. This should be the mindset of any student - to learn - be it learning new material, or learning from your past - Learn! Because when you learn, you gain knowledge and insight. And when you gain knowledge and insight, you can make the right choices. And when you make the right choices, you carve a pleasant path for your life to follow.

Now, you don't have to do this alone - neither did I. When you have made the correct choice, there are many people around you who are willing to help you fulfil that choice. First and foremost would be your parents. Who else in this entire world, would stay up for you, late at night just waiting for you to return home safely (of course, other than your future wife)? Who else would work hard to keep the family running, who would sacrifice so much so that you may enjoy? So, my fellow Saints, thank your parents, and listen to them.

Your second source of help? Well, in my case, it was my teachers. Every teacher who has taught me has not only taught me the content of their respective subjects, but rather, they also imparted to me their values as well. I learnt much from my teachers, and when I made the choice to work hard, they were there to help and support me in any way they could. And so, seek help from your teachers, even if you think you are the worst student in the world. The moment you make the choice to work hard and succeed, I can guarantee you that our teachers will be ready to help you in any way.

Last but not least, your life in this wonderful school would be very incomplete without this special group of people looking out for you, whether you are down, or you are feeling happy. This group comprises your friends. My friends and I, during our time here, made choices that were sometimes foolish, but sometimes we made responsible ones as well. Regardless of our choices, we helped each other out, ranging from problems in schoolwork to problems in life. Your friends, out of the 3 groups I've mentioned so far, are sometimes the most approachable people you can ever meet.... when was the last time you were shy to talk about your life or your problems to your friend?

So, my advice to you - talk. Not during lessons, of course, but talk to these three groups of people whenever you can find the time. Talk your heart out. Express your problems and seek guidance. However, you must be careful not to simply pass over your problems to your friend, teacher or parent because they too may have a thousand problems like you. Instead, take their advice and learn from their experiences. A person who does not take responsibility for his own actions and simply relies on others to solve problems for him will become another burden to others.

I'm nearing the end of my speech. Remember the story I told at the beginning? Why am I here? I'm not Ronald Reagan, Oprah Winfrey, Barrack Obama, Martin Luther King or Mahatma Gandhi. However, I am Basheer Ahamed Hamid Maricar, the boy who made a choice, to come here and deliver to you this simple message, this message of the "Power of Choice". People can help you by telling you what's best for you. But ultimately, you have to make the choice to bring out the best in yourself. And with that, I leave the choice to you..... Thank you.

Up and On!

Basheer Ahamed Hamid Maricar

CROSSING OVER... FROM BOYHOOD TO TEENHOOD

Written by: Elliot Wong and Ethan Ashwin Antoni of 2A | Photographs provided by: Saints Photography Club

The Crossover. A symbolic ceremony of crossing over from the Junior to the Secondary School which takes place on the first day of the school year. During the ceremony, the Primary 6s of the previous year run across the school field to a warm and boisterous welcome from the secondary school students.

"I didn't sleep last night," said Aidil Ryan, one of the many P6s getting ready to dash across the field.

The ceremony started with a bang of drums as the national anthem was played over the loud speaker and everyone sang to it.

Reverend Michael Teh then gave his inspiring devotion message to the Saints on what he hoped the Saints would achieve in 2014.

After Rev Teh's speech, faithful alumnus Mr Yee Teck Peng took hold of the mike and proceeded to lead the school song with much gusto, demonstrating the pride Saints have for their school. The school song ended on a high note and Mr Yee then led the school in a cheer to get everyone hyped up for the crossover.

"Saints, are you ready?" cried Mr Yee. The P6s of last year responded with a fearsome roar. Mr Yee proceeded to raise the horn and, with a loud "Beep!", the Saints took off! Their faces were bursting with enthusiasm and joy as they dashed across the field. The other Saints cheered them on from the sidelines during this short but legendary moment. Even the alumni of the school, who were there to help out that day, ran across with them to reminisce their own days as a young Saint.

As for how the crossover became a significant event, Mr Yee simply responded with an old adage of St Andrew's, "One family unbroken."

"The crossover signifies the strong sense of community within the Village, and binds the schools together," he added.

Truly, the crossover is a significant event in one's time as a Saint, and it will continue to be an important tradition in the school because it stands for the start of a new phase in life within the same family – the St Andrew's family.

"The crossover signifies the strong sense of community within the Village, and binds the schools together." – Mr Yee Teck Peng

"My own crossover was held at the old quadrangle," Mr Yee told us. "The distance that we ran was even shorter than the one today, but I felt as proud of my school as many of the other boys today did."

THEY REAPED WHAT THEY HAVE SOWN

Written by: Pramodh Chandran of 4SA | Edited by: Lim Neng Du of 4SA |

"TO PRODUCE MEN OF WISDOM AND STATURE WHO STAND IN FAVOUR WITH GOD AND MAN."

These are the very words that one sees at the top of the big steps. St Andrew's Secondary School has always been committed to nurturing Saints into wise gentlemen.

On 10th January, many Saints marked the end of their journey with the Secondary School as they received their 'O' Level results. It was the day that each and every one of the 2013 Secondary 4 students awaited with a mixture of anxiety and expectancy.

And yet, it wasn't as bad as many of them feared. In fact, for some students like Ashruff Muhammed, 4SA, it opened up new doors of opportunity.

The 17-year-old, who was originally considering entering a polytechnic, was more than pleased with his results. "I am thankful to have been able to receive such results and I will be deciding whether to continue my post-secondary education at a polytechnic or a junior college."

His mother who was understandably flustered by her son's excellent results, told us that she was proud of the effort that he had put in and felt that he deserved the outstanding marks he received.

We also had the privilege of talking to Hamid Maricar, who will be receiving the prestigious Dux Award with his staggering result of 9 A1s. He maintained a modest composure even when he was personally commended by the principal for his hard earned A1s.

His parents were unsurprisingly elated, and felt that the consistent hard work he had put in his studies since Secondary 1 had finally paid off.

Finally, we also spoke to Mrs Lucy Toh who played a critical role in motivating all the students in doing well. In her own words, "Although there were slightly fewer students who managed to qualify for Junior College this year, there was a significant increase in the number of students who received 6 points for the L1R5".

She was also quick to teach the boys the importance of being grateful as she led the boys in expressing their appreciation towards the parents and teachers who had helped them throughout their journey in St Andrew's.

Indeed, it was an eye opening experience for many, especially my classmates and I as we found newfound motivation and inspiration from our seniors to do well in our results so that next year, we would be able to produce the same, if not better, results.

ONCE A SAINT ALWAYS A SAINT.

Our prayers are with those who have graduated as they continue the next part of their life as Saints of wisdom and stature who will be a blessing to others in their future endeavors.

DOING S.A. PROUD

"It's a mixture of a lot of factors put together. I think the most important thing is to love what you do. Once you start to enjoy what you do, you'll already be a step ahead of others. When you have a genuine interest in what you're learning, you'll take the time and effort to find out more about the subject, and that's key in being able to excel in what you do or study."
- Amos Lim on his success

Amos Lim together with Mr Jansen Ho, his fromer form teacher, receiving his award.

Elliot interviewing Amos Lim

Amos with Mr Ho after the interview.

Amos Lim, an ex-student of St Andrew's, graduated from Nanyang Polytechnic with a Diploma in Aerospace Systems & Management and is the proud recipient of the Thales Award for Outstanding Project Work. Village Online decided to contact him for an interview to find out about his success.

"Hi, are you Bernice Xu?" Amos stepped up to my teacher and I in a friendly tone, greeting both of us with a smile. "Yes, hi there, and this here, is Elliot," Ms Xu introduced me. I shook his hand and felt his firm grip when he greeted me. I was never one for handshakes as I'd always tend to avoid staring at the one whom I was greeting. However, his warm tone and friendly greeting made me do otherwise. He started off with a bit of a friendly chat before we eventually got down to the questions.

VO: How did you do in your secondary school career academically?
Amos: Well, I guess it was fairly difficult, especially for Maths and Physics, because I was never really a Maths person. I was better in Geography; it was my favourite subject and I really enjoyed going for classes.

VO: How do you think the people around you (i.e. peers and teachers) helped you excel in school?
Amos: The teachers here were very patient, which was one thing I liked about St Andrew's. They really took time to teach us, sometimes even after school hours, to make sure we understood what we were taught. I remember staying back for Maths lessons until 3.30pm, and it was a joy to come back even though it was a little hard, because we knew that we weren't there to be scolded, but rather to learn something. As for my peers, many of them were encouraging. They would take pains to explain things to one another if they didn't understand anything. We wouldn't discourage others for not understanding.

VO: Which teacher in school inspired you the most? How did he/she do so?
Amos: Well... that's a little tough. There are quite a few teachers, but I shall specify some of them. My form teacher, Mr Jansen Ho, who saw me through secondary 4. Sec 4 being a critical year, was one of the toughest times for us students. Mr Ho would ask me how I was doing in my subjects, not just the one he was teaching, which was D&T, but the other subjects as well. Mrs Belinda Charles, who was the principal back then when I was around, was very encouraging as well. I wasn't one of the best students, so I had to meet her once in a while, which wasn't a really good thing. But she really encouraged me and showed me the way, especially for Physics, as she recommended people whom could help me in that area.

VO: What did you and your good friends usually do together?
Amos: I remember during our time in secondary school, we would always hang out at the chicken rice stall opposite the road... which I don't think is there anymore. We always liked to hang out there because the food was good and reasonably priced. We'd also buy bubble tea afterwards. Sometimes we would also go back to school to study together, or for CCA, or playing a game of soccer.

VO: Actually the chicken rice stall is still there.
Amos: Oh... really? I thought it had moved to Singapore Polytechnic actually.

VO: What made you decide to take up your course in Polytechnic?
Amos: As I was doing D&T in sec 4, my Physics was also improving, and so based on those two subjects, engineering was the area for me. I was also in the CCA Singapore Youth Flying Club (SYFC), and so with that mix, I decided that going into Aerospace Systems would be a good idea.

VO: In what ways did St Andrew's and its environment help you become who you are today?
Amos: I've been in St Andrew's since Primary 1, all the way to Sec 4. In St Andrew's, the students are very intentional in getting to know one another, and teachers are always willing to go the extra mile for you. I also knew both principals personally, from the junior school and the secondary school, and it's great that they are willing to see each and every one of us in the class through, and won't leave a single person behind.

VO: What are some of your best memories of your secondary school life?
Amos: I was a prefect in school, so one of my best memories would be leading the Sec 1 orientation camp. My prefect mates and I would always stay back to plan for the camp, and execute it overnight as well. It was really meaningful to be able to engage with the younger people and see where they were going in their lives. Also, as leaders of the school, it was good that they had someone in the school who was a senior to them.

The rugby matches every year were also one of the best memories I had. We'd always come together to cheer our school into the rugby finals. And those were two of the things I always looked forward to most.

VO: Can you explain what you learnt in your course?
Amos: My polytechnic course was Aerospace Systems & Management. It's an engineering diploma which focuses on electronics and engineering. Specifically, we learn a lot about Aerospace electronics. In Physics lessons, you'll probably learn about electronics too, but this course is a bit more in-depth. We study the different functions of the electronics in a plane, and how they complement each other to make the whole plane work. It's much more in depth, and tedious at times with regards to Maths. But after a while, you learn to appreciate it and it starts to make sense.

VO: How do you feel about receiving the award?
Amos: Well, that award was given to me for my final year project. What I built for that project was a drone. One of the reasons I won was also because I had also won a competition held collectively between the Science Centre and the Defence Science Organization (DSO) held at the Science Centre. I used my project, which was the drone, to fly and compete. I ended up winning that competition as well, which was probably why I won the Outstanding Project award.

VO: What do you think contributed to your success?
Amos: It's a mixture of a lot of factors put together. I think the most important thing is to love what you do. Once you start to enjoy what you do, you'll already be a step ahead of others. When you have a genuine interest in what you're learning, you'll take the time and effort to find out more about the subject, and that's key in being able to excel in what you do or study.

VO: What have you learnt along the way in your polytechnic life?
Amos: I guess Polytechnic is definitely a milestone for many of us. The culture of studying is very different from what it was like in secondary school. Everything was much different, we had to be much more independent. We weren't checked for our homework like we were in secondary school, so we had to make sure that we ourselves had to go along with the flow and put in our own effort.

VO: What are some words of advice you would give to students out there who want to pursue their passions like you?
Amos: Well, for all secondary school students, what I'd say is that you never really know what you want to do until you actually do it. If you find that you're interested in something, you should definitely try it out, because it's only until you do it that you find out you really enjoy it, so you really need to take a step of faith. And whatever you do, don't leave it halfway, complete it until the very end.

VO: You graduated not too long ago and I'm sure you would know the character of your juniors. What advice would you give them about life in SASS?
Amos: Personally, when I was a junior, it was quite scary to go to Sec 3 and 4, because of the 'O' Levels. The advice I'd give is to balance between fun and work. If you attempt to work hard every single day, you also miss the point of secondary school. Secondary school is supposed to be a holistic experience in which you learn while having fun.

Of course too much play isn't good either. Try to set milestones which after you reach, you ask yourself, "Have I completed what I need to study? Have I been enjoying my time with my friends?"

VO: What are some words of wisdom that you would impart in general?
Amos: I'll say, treasure your life in secondary school. As you move on, you'll realize that life passes very fast, and I'm saying this as a student who has graduated four years on, that the best friends you truly have are those from secondary school. They're the ones who really stick with you for life, and are those you can call brothers (or sisters) and stick with you through thick and thin. I still meet up with my old secondary school friends, and they're friends whom I hold really close to my heart, just as much as they hold me close to theirs.

So keep in contact with your secondary school friends, even as you move on to polytechnic life, or whatever life you may choose to lead, whether it's 'A' Levels or IP.

PREFECTS COMMENDATION: TO SERVE AND TO LEAD

Reported by: John E. Golena, Julian Chun, Khoo Ying Yan of 1A | Photographs taken by: Ewen Marjoribanks (3J1) and Sean The (3S2)

The Prefects Commendation is an annual event where fine young men are sworn in as prefects of the school. For some prefects, it is a day when they are appointed as senior leaders and heads of the student government. It is a day to remember. As with the tradition, it was held at the St Andrew's Cathedral on the seventh of March.

Bridge between Students and Teachers

Prefects play a vital role in the school; they are the bridge between the students and teachers. Mrs Lucy Toh, our principal, feels that the students would be more likely to adhere to the prefects as they are students as well.

"Our prefects should be the gentleman that Saints are supposed to be; they have to uphold our rules, and also ensure that their fellow companions follow too," said Mrs Toh.

To Serve is an Honour

For Josh Lim (4SB), the newly appointed Captain, serving the school is an honour.

"I will give my best to the school and uphold its reputation," Josh said and promised. "I will also lead by example.

Mrs Toh, who has seen him grow and mature over the years, feels that he is well-suited for the job and expects great things of him.

Prefects must be WISE and TRUE

When shortlisting the candidates, Prefect Master Mr Kenny Lew said prefects have to embody the school values: WISE and TRUE.

He further opined that our prefects care for our school and they all want our boys to grow and mature as Saints. As such, prefects will ensure that rules are adhered to, even if it means that students have to be punished for their misdeeds.

"This year's batch holds a lot of potential," said Mr Lew, "and I believe that they will be effective in their roles."

Do What is Right

In her speech, Mrs Toh encouraged our prefects to "Always do what is right, and never lose sight of it. Even when things are down, look to the light at the end of the tunnel."

FOOD FROM THE HEART

Collection of food during morning assembly

Have you felt what it is like to not know when your next meal will be? Most likely not. In fact, the very thought of that happening in Singapore seems like an unrealistic notion, right? Well, the sad truth is, it still happens, even today. That's why every year, St Andrew's Village organizes a yearly food fund-raiser, otherwise known as the SAV Food drive. The primary objective behind this amazing initiative is to collect food to donate to the needy.

This year, boys from every level chipped in with what they could, even surprising the teacher in-charge of the event, Mr Lune!

*"Well, at first I had pretty low expectations of the boys, as I'm always assuming boys will forget things, so I decided to bring out one table for the food. But lo and behold, they remembered and surpassed all my expectations, which was fantastic!"– Mr Kevin Lune

Thank you, Saints!

So how do you pull off something as big as this? Well, every year, the Sec 3 and 4M classes of SASS take charge of the event. They think about how to promote the event, as well as the collection of the food from each class. They worked very hard this year in order to get this food drive going smoothly and effectively. And surely their hard work can be seen in the success of the event.

Besides the extraordinary aim of this meaningful event, the boys helping out also gained a thing or two from this affair. Mr Lune explained this to us a little more, "Every year, 3M and 4M are in charge of the food drive and the previous 3M boys will take on the big brother role when they reach Sec 4. And every year we get to see how they become more mature and 'lead' as they organize the event!'"

The boys have certainly shown themselves to be concerned citizens of Singapore. As Hidayat of 4M succinctly sums up:

*"It's a very great way to reach out to the poor and needy families, and I would gladly do it again." – Hidayat, 4M

Here at St Andrew's, we go beyond the walls of our school to serve the community and it's what makes us true Saints!

All packed into bags and ready to be distributed to the community!

MAY GOD BLESS AND KEEP YOU, MR GOH

"One must strive to fulfil their full potential because if one achieves anything less than their potential, they would have let themselves down." – Mr Goh Boon Pin to students of St Andrew's Secondary

Mr Goh Boon Pin has served St Andrew's Secondary School for 25 years. In his time here, he started out as a Design and Technology (D&T) teacher in1989, then went on to serve as Head of Department for D&T before being called to lead as Vice Principal in 2005. He retired in April 2014.

A man of tall stature, Mr Goh certainly has a way of handling students with his strict demeanor and stern voice. However, he is also a man who is humble beyond words and this humility is an admirable trait which we so often lack.

Before we met Mr Goh in person, we, like many students, thought that he was a strict, no-nonsense type of person. However, once we had met him, he seemed surprisingly informal and easy-going. He answered the questions in a casual tone and gave sharp and precise answers, hardly pausing to think at all. We were impressed by his positive outlook on life and work, as well as how deeply he cares for the school.

A poem about Mr Goh with photographs of him in the shape of the school crest as the background.

Celebrating yet another Rugby win!

He has high expectations of the school and not for a second seemed to doubt that it will achieve even more greatness in the future.

We could feel him pouring his heart and soul into his vivid retellings of his time in St Andrew's Secondary School, like presenting to the then Minister of Education, Mr Teo Chee Hean, his plans for having a centre of excellence for D&T.

When asked if he had any gripes about having been the vice principal, he said,

> "To be the bad guy. Especially scolding and caning students. Teachers get direct interaction and are able to build relationships and bonds with students where else the Vice Principal does not."

From these heartfelt words, one can tell how much he enjoys his interaction with students and perhaps, this factor is what makes a passionate teacher and a caring school leader.

VO:* What do you miss most about SASS?
Mr Goh: I miss all of the staff and students because in my 25 years here, I've had a very good relationship with all of the staff as well as the students I've come across. And somehow I miss this familial feel and atmosphere. Now, I don't come to the school so regularly and yes, I miss all of this.

VO:* What is the first thing you think of when SASS comes to mind?
Mr Goh: Oh, first thing? Okay, it is a school where we care about people. We want to develop and make people better. We rejoice in everyone's success and we work together as a team. That is what I think about the school.

VO:* How do you plan to enjoy your retirement?
Mr Goh: You know, when I was here, I was working at 100km/h but now, I am going to work at 10km/h. Much slower. This slower pace of life is something I appreciate and enjoy.

VO:* Would you mind sharing with us one embarrassing moment in your career?
Mr Goh: Embarrassing? No... I mean if I had, I would share. But for me to recall... it's not like my career experienced only success and no failures but I think my attitude towards life and work is this: I do not want to look at failures. When I look at failures, I want to improve.

VO:* What do you think of teachers at SASS and why?
Mr Goh: I always talk to the teachers on a regular basis... be it as an individual or a group. They are committed and caring. They put in effort and rejoice when the students do well. The teachers also have teamwork. They aren't selfish.

VO:* What is one of the most memorable moments or events for you?
Mr Goh: Presenting to the then Minister of Education, Mr Teo Chee Hean about the plans for having a Centre of Excellence (CoE) for D&T. Within one week, the Ministry replied, approving of the COE. Minister Teo liked the plans so much that the budget was raised.

VO:* What was the hardest part about being the VP?
Mr Goh: To be the bad guy. Yup, definitely. Especially scolding and caning students. I feel that this is part of my job because students need to have discipline.

VO:* What's the difference between being a VP and being a HoD or a teacher?
Mr Goh: Being a teacher is best because teachers get direct interaction and are able to build relationships and bonds with students whereas the VP does not.

VO:* What is one advice that you would give to students and why?
Mr Goh: One must strive to fulfil their full potential because if one achieves anything less than their potential, they would have let themselves down.

VO:* What is one way SASS can improve?
Mr Goh: SASS can strive for more innovative and creative learning and teaching practice and experiences.

Talking with Mr Goh was an unforgettable experience (he even indulged us in a special handshake!) and we are glad and honoured that we had the chance to interview him.

We wish you all the best in your future endeavours, Mr Goh! And thank you for being a strong pillar at St Andrew's Secondary School for the past 25 years. It has been a real blessing to have had you with us to nurture the growth of the school.

It's not all fun and games being the 'bad guy'.

BANK ON GOOD CHARACTER TO SUCCEED

Reported by: Bruce Dylan and Derrick Yap of 3S1 | Photographs taken by: Mr Winston Soo and Alim Raj (3SA)

The SASS family — 3SA boys, Mr Winston Soo (far left), Mr Chew Ee (far right) and Mr Ching Wei Hong, COO of OCBC and old boy of SASS (Class of 1975) — posed for a group shot after the enriching learning experience. Up and On!

As students, many of us often hear reminders from our parents and teachers to study hard so that we are able to get a good job when we grow up. While that is true to a certain extent, many success stories seem to gravitate to the simple truth: Having a good character and the right attitude is far more important for success than qualifications and results.

That was what our class, 3SA, learned during our learning journey to the Overseas-Chinese Banking Corporation (OCBC). Many of us think that banking is an enviable job, especially with the high salary it offers. However, it is not as easy as it seems. You go to work, sit in your office chair, and keep stacks of cash that are not even yours – how heart-aching. It is true that such money-handling involves huge responsibilities. However, there are great rewards that can be sown, as the banking industry is one of the highest paid industries in the world today.

In banking, the values that are placed in the highest esteem are honesty and integrity. That is what an old boy of our school, the Chief Operating Officer of OCBC Bank, Mr Ching Wei Hong, says. In the banking industry in Singapore, banks are strictly regulated, and dishonest acts are treated seriously. Workers, if found guilty of dishonest acts, are immediately fired and their names will be blacklisted, thus preventing them from ever being able to work for a Singaporean bank in the future.

SASS students were all smiles as they dug into a feast!

Students were introduced to a touch-screen interactive device that allows customers to choose personalised designs of their credit cards. How cool is that!

Students were intrigued as they learnt about the minds behind stock marketing.

Students had fun riding the world's first super light folding electric bike—YikeBike!

Excited students tried their hand at designing credit cards.

Students listened attentively as OCBC personnel shared exclusive tips on how to be a successful banker.

It is clear why the two afore-mentioned values are the most important ones in such an industry, but Mr Ching believes that they are applicable beyond the realm of banking. "Your honesty and integrity must be stretched out to your teachers, family members and friends. We must always display honesty and integrity in whatever we do. That means you shouldn't steal or cheat – earn money the honest way."

Mr Ching asserted, "Without these core values, you will not do very well in life."

Mr Ching also mentioned a maxim that he has shared with his colleagues. He calls it the Three Elements of Success: Commitment, Passion and Hunger.

"If you want to do well in something, you have to be committed. Without commitment to the work you have chosen to partake in, you will not do well," Mr Ching warned. He also added that passion is vital to keep one committed. "When you apply for a job, or even a subject or course to take up, you must enjoy doing it. Such joy in your work will make it much easier to be committed to it."

We should also always have goals or targets to aim for. This helps us to progress in the very areas which we are committed to and are passionate about. "Always strive to be Number One, but we must never be jealous of whoever is doing better than us; we must not have the wrong motivations to succeed," Mr Ching stressed.

You only live once, so live it to the fullest. Ensure that you are happy with what you do, and you succeed in it.

When asked to give some advice for our fellow Saints, Mr Ching immediately told us, "Listen to your teachers. Pay attention in class. Pass tests and exams, because we live in a very competitive society."

He elaborated by saying that Singapore is part of a global economy. That means we are competing with talented people who are not only from our tiny island, but also those from around the globe — so we must be able to compete with them.

There are no easy jobs. It is very tough to work and compete in the world today, and if we don't do well in academia, we will have a hard time as adults.

Finally, he ended off his speech with a gentle reminder: While studying hard, we must not forget to always have fun.

Mr Ching's advice on good character and having the right attitudes is relevant beyond his area of expertise as a banker — these words of wisdom can be applied to any situation in which you wish to attain success. That can include your studies, CCAs, career, and other valuable commitments. So Saints, strive to achieve your goals and enjoy doing so!

R.O.S.E. DISTRIBUTION BY 3J4

> "If we ever want to help someone, we can; very easily."
> – Eric Lim, 3J4

On 12th April, the students from 3J4 took part in the R.O.S.E. programme. What the programme aims to do is to distribute Rice, Oil, Sugar and Essentials to those who need it. It gave students the opportunity to meet the needy families living in Potong Pasir. The boys did not only get to provide necessary food for them; they managed to meet the families as well.

When asked how they felt about the event, Othniel replied, "I feel that this event went smoothly and I think we all managed to give bags of groceries to the elderly people."

Another student, Jasper, replied, "I felt a bit tired but it was very fun, and I was very happy to see the smiles on their faces."

The students of 3J4 certainly had a tiring day walking from block to block, delivering the necessities. However, the experience gained is beyond words. True to their names, Saints found out that helping others is not that hard after all and will strive to do more to help the needy.

Eric Lim said, "If we ever want to help someone, we can; very easily."

> "Everyone should be provided with groceries and no one should be left out." said Othniel

Village Online was unfortunately not allowed to interview the families but from their faces, we could tell how happy and grateful they were. Perhaps a majority of the boys in St Andrew's are indeed fortunate not to have to worry about necessities, but others living in the Potong Pasir area may not be as blessed. Most of the families 3J4 went to live in one-room flats and receive less than $2000 a month with 4-5 members to feed and clothe.

Mr Timothy Lim, the teacher-in-charge of the programme shared his thoughts aloud:

> "I think it's pretty fruitful because I think that the boys have never stepped into people's houses that are less well off than theirs. By getting to talk to these people, I think it is more meaningful. Just seeing the students getting together, everyone helping each other... Basically, the camaraderie heartened me."
> – Mr Timothy Lim

All in all, he feels that all Saints should join in and that the programme should be extended to beyond Potong Pasir, perhaps the entire South-East region.

On behalf of the school and residents that were helped, we would like to thank all the Sec 3J4 students for the work they have done. Good job, boys!

FRIENDS FROM TAIWAN AND PERTH

Reported by: Ng Ee Ching and Ranvir Koknutphongchai of 2A | Photographs taken by: Goh Zhong Da (4S1)

We look different, we sound different. But are we really worlds apart from one another? Geographically, it may seem so. But all of us desire the same things; acceptance, happiness and friendship. We aren't so different from one another after all.

St Andrew's celebrated International Friendship week by having two groups of students with us: one from Perth, and the other from Taiwan. What better way to interact with students from other countries than to organise various activities and mingle with them?

The Taiwan group went over to SAJC for the JC International Day Programme while the Perth group hung out with their Sec 3 buddies for a week, experiencing what lessons are like in the Singaporean classroom.

The students went venturing around our school, which includes the JC, and did many different activities, learning the history of our school and what learning is like in our school.

The foreign students found the experience enriching despite the fact that they did not completely understand each lesson. Although there were difficulties in interacting with the Taiwanese, there is no doubt our St Andrew's boys showed grace in leading and enlightening the students with patience.

Sharing during morning assembly.

Village Online managed to interview the teachers as well as a few students to find out more.

V.O:* How different is our education from yours? Can you elaborate on some of the differences?

Mr Jason Lamb: The length of periods, the class sizes and the teaching styles. Also, there's more use of technology in the classroom than ours. Our school time is 8.25am to 3.05pm. Also, your school has levels up to Secondary 5 while we have until Secondary 6.

V.O:* What is your impression of Singapore?

Mr Jason Lamb: I love Singapore, I think it's vibrant, exciting and a very nice country to live in.

Ms Jasmine Head: I think it's really good because there are lots of different facets of Singaporean history.

V.O:* How is it like for the students to experience the Singapore education system?

Mr Jason Lamb: This has been going on for 3 years and it has been progressing well. The boys love the experience and particularly they enjoy what they learn, where they sleep over with their buddies and they would like to do more of those things in the future.

V.O:* Overall, how do you feel about your stay in Singapore?

Taiwanese student: I like how the buddies are entertaining and caring. They helped me in translating many things and also informed me about the things around. Also the place we stayed at had very good facilities.

V.O:* How do we compare with the education system in Taiwan / Perth?

Taiwanese student: The education here seems to give students more stress than ours: like at a certain age, you are required to learn things much more complicated than ours and of course there are more assignments given here.

Australian student: The content of the subjects is almost the same except for Maths, which is more difficult in Singapore and definitely, the education in Perth is more relaxed; they only have exams in the last two years of their school life.

Despite the contrast between the education systems, the students still enjoyed the activities organised for them. Furthermore, this programme's objective is to promote the friendship amongst us, neglecting what differs us from one another.

Indeed, this event has been a successful one and our students have reaped the rewards of their labour due to their combined effort and willingness to participate in the programme.

SAVenture

How much do we know about the history of our school? Many of us know that St Andrew's is a school with a rich history all the way back from the year 1862. This year, the orientation of SAJC involved new and old St Andrew's students learning more about the Village, exploring the many places and playing games along the way.

"It is an honor for SAJC to travel around St Andrew's Village and Potong Pasir, as there hasn't been much collaboration between SAJS, SASS, and SAJC; so we are really happy to be able to collaborate and bring the SAV together." - Wei Ce, a J2 student and the overall person in-charge of this event.

Originally, the idea behind the orientation was vague as the committee planning this event had to organize new games from scratch. Eventually, the team came up with the idea of SAVenture - short for St Andrew's Village Adventure. It was not without the combined effort of everyone involved that it turned out as beautifully as it did. Positive comments and feedback were received from J1s and J2s alike. The J2s who were tasked with taking the J1s around in the orientation were trained to make a powerful impact on the J1s.

"It was really fun meeting the SAJS and SASS boys and the interaction we had was really good. I think it is important to familiarise ourselves with the Village, especially since we are going to spend two years here in Potong Pasir." – Lydia Lim

The J1s were expected to be more than just familiarised with the school as they have to be more aware about the rich, unique history and be more than just proud of the school. For the J1s who were posted here, they can expect things to get fun and get ready to be involved with the special camaraderie accorded to everyone without a second thought.

Nicholas Tok, a J1, commented: "The family is quite warm and welcoming and my first impression of SA was that it's a very "sporty school; all-rounded, and does not solely focus on the academics."

SA isn't about just an institution but a culture. A phrase in the school song, "Lives are in the making here" isn't just a phrase. It is an objective, a goal and a dream towards which teachers and students work. It may be what they look forward to getting up early in the morning for a new and exciting day at school.

While it wasn't an easy feat to organise and carry out the SAVenture, OG Leader Tee Jian Hong has reaped the rewards of his labour.

"I like the enthusiasm of my OG and it is important to know about the SA culture. Through the planning of our games, we hope to give more meaning to the games by teaching the J1s the rich history of our school, giving them a unique experience that is more than just having fun." – Tee Jian Hong, OG Leader

SAVenture has been a success as the J1s have nothing but good remarks about it. As She Shi Hao , a J1 from OG23 said, "It is a fun, interesting and enriching experience which allowed us to bond and make new friends. The organization of the tour was effective and unique."

SAINTS RUGBY RETAINS KIWI CUP

Reported by: Bruce Dylan and Derrick Yap of 3S1

"It can be seen very evidently that there is an abundance of spirit and pride in each and every Saint. The Saints were very vocal in their cheering and when we won, I could see that everyone was sincerely proud of being a Saint." – Doran Oon, 1B

Dynamism and zeal filled the air as Saints jumped out of their seats to cheer on the St Andrew's rugby team as they pushed towards the try line – slowly and steadily. The battle in the field was keen and fierce but eventually, the tenacity and hard work of the Saints rugby players paid off and St Andrew's celebrated its 8th consecutive championship win in the Kiwi Cup on 24th January 2014.

Initiated in 1968, The Kiwi Cup is a friendly game of rugby between St Andrew's and Raffles Institution. The game which was revived in 2004 has been running annually ever since and is now the oldest rugby tournament contested for in Singapore.

SAJC was filled with massive crowds who were there to support the respective school teams. The Secondary 1s from SASS were the majority of St Andrew's supporters. Annually, the Kiwi Cup would fall within the period of the Sec 1 orientation camp and as such, the Sec 1s would make it a point to watch the match.

Following the arrival of the guests of honour, RI and SA ruggers performed their versions of the battle cry, known as the Haka, to the excitement of their supporters.

Saints rugby team defends championship in the Kiwi Cup again.

Saints and Rafflesians go all out to win the game.

"It's awesome when you see your team scoring as you can feel the Saint's spirit once the cheers start. This is my third year watching the Kiwi Cup, but this feeling doesn't get old. I feel so proud to be a Saint!" said ardent supporter, Wang An Fu of 3SA.

As the match started, Saints cheered their hearts out. Every moment or so, councillors from SAJC would lead in the cheers to encourage the ruggers to press on with all their might.

Their passes, tackles and running were what the Saints were inordinately focused on. No matter what hit them, the Saints got back on their feet time and again, getting stronger each time.

As the conclusion of the game rapidly drew near, spectators from both sides bit their nails and clenched their teeth. The Rafflesians started pounding waves of attacks against the Saint's defence, only to be denied by tenacious and gritty players defending the line.

Thanks to the unbreakable defence sustaining the impending forces, the Saints persevered through the match with a final score of 8-5, with Saints in the lead. The elated supporters swarmed onto the pitch at the final whistle, with rambunctious cheers and cries that could be heard throughout the school.

When asked what his feelings about the match were, Doran Oon of 1B said, "It can be seen very evidently that there is an abundance of spirit and pride in each and every Saint. The Saints were very vocal in their cheering and when we won, I could see that everyone was sincerely proud of being a Saint."

In the end, not only have the Saints forged closer ties with Raffles Institution, we have also brought back the Cup, preserving the pride of the ever-strong rugby culture in Saint Andrew's.

"I wish there were more friendly games like the Kiwi Cup as it is very special for two teams to build up a relationship over the years. Ironically, through fierce competition, these two teams have become better friends." – Mrs Lucy Toh

SAINTS BASKETBALL: A TEAM TO RECKON WITH

Reported by: John E. Golena of 1A

Saints Basketball

We want to be in the Top 4 and that's what drives us. It's our motivation in matches against tough teams.
– Ang Wei Jun, Co-Captain of Saints Basketball

Perseverance, Endurance and Discipline; these are the key values that push our Saints Basketball team to do its very best. With the help of their coach and teachers in-charge, they have delivered excellence time and again, playing their best for each game.

Basketball is probably one of the most physically and mentally challenging sports out there. The constant jumping, dribbling, composure, hand-eye coordination, and tactical thinking are constant features in the tough sport. The long training hours on and off-court are what gives SASS team an edge over others. They constantly have to be in their best form as every match is an important, and perhaps deciding game.

Last Friday, the Village Online interviewed the co-captains of the team, Ang Wei Jun and Tan Jian Ye, who are taking their O levels this year, to find out more about the Saints Basketball team as well as their thoughts on upcoming matches.

On the Saints Basketball Team

Being co-captain of the team is an honour because this team is like family to me. We are like brothers.
– Tan Jian Ye, Co-Captain of Saints Basketball

Tan Jian Ye in action with Saints Basketball Team against Serangoon Gardens Secondary

VO:* How do you feel about the team?
Wei Jun: Everybody has grown from where we were since we were put together as a team. We are pretty much like family. Basketball united us and through basketball, we got more serious and disciplined about things. Though we are close, we still have things to discover about each other. Most of us are quite cheeky sometimes, but with the help of our coach, we have become more disciplined.

VO:* What values do you think are important in bringing a team to success?
Wei Jun: Discipline, Commitment and Perseverance. These three values are important because training is something to be committed to. Perseverance is needed to endure the toughest training. There are always setbacks we face but we have to overcome it. Lastly, Discipline because we have to listen to our coach and be dedicated in what we do.

VO:* What are you most happy about being co-captains of the team?
Jian Ye: Being co-captain of the team is an honour because this team is like family to me. We are like brothers.

VO:* How close is the team?
Jian Ye: Well, we are close enough in that we will stand together through thick and thin. No matter the circumstance, we will stand up for each other. But of course there is a line, and our coach's discipline helps us to stay in it. We have to set an example and we cannot misbehave even outside of basketball – we can't be caught standing outside the class or standing during assembly because we forgot our ties.

VO: How far do you think the team has progressed since 2013?
Jian Ye: Mentally as well as physically – in terms of skills – we have improved a lot since last year. We are very ready for this year's competition.

VO: What are the contributing factors to your progress?
Wei Jun: The time put into training, and the drive to be the very best! We want to be in the Top 4 and that's what drives us. It's our motivation in matches against tough teams.

On how they cope with academics and CCA

VO: How do you cope with CCA and preparing for your O levels?
Wei Jun: First we have to plan our time well, especially since we are in Sec 4. We need to plan what we want to do every day; if not things won't get done and we would upset our teachers. This would also affect our mood during basketball and the drive to practise well during training.

VO: How do you cope with your stress?
Wei Jun: Our stress levels are not really over-the-top because when sometimes we are stressed, as a team we would get together to play. That's how we de-stress. We manage our time well and still have time to hang out and have fun. There are times when we get stressed but who doesn't?

On the games this week

VO: How do you feel about your upcoming matches?
Wei Jun: We still have a bit to work on; we are not 100% there yet as we still have to work on minor things we overlooked. We can do it, but we need to iron out some minor details regarding the game – our strategy to win still needs a few adjustments.

VO: Who do you think might be a tough school to beat?
Jian Ye: Well the toughest are schools who are the favourites of the game, like Catholic High, Pei Cai, Raffles and ACS Barker. It's not about their size or heights though. They are more organised teams and I think we need to work on that. If we are more organised, we will go far... Yes. We will go far.

VO: Which is more important? Skills or Values?
Jian Ye: Both, definitely. We need both values and skills to show that we are a good team.

Seems like both captains have a good head on their shoulders! We see now that basketball is not just getting a ball through a hoop. It's both physically and mentally challenging; a game of brain and brawn. And equally important, if not more, are good leadership and a strong team spirit which are essentials in winning the game.

Put in your best efforts in this week's games, Saints! We are proud of you.

CHINESE CULTURAL CAMP

The Chinese Cultural Camp has been organized annually by the Mother Tongue Department to promote the appreciation of Chinese culture and interest the boys in learning more about their Chinese language.

This year, the Camp was held on 30th May for all Secondary One students. They were engaged in activities such as knot-tying, mud-sculpting and paper-cutting.

Through these activities, the students also learnt about the origin of Chinese arts and culture and its purposes. The students also learnt this through language games such as "Guessing the right words".

Post-camp surveys revealed that most of the students found the Cultural Camp Programme fun and interesting and most gained an in-depth knowledge of the Chinese culture and its art forms.

MOTHER TONGUE LANGUAGE (MTL) FORTNIGHT

The Mother Tongue Language (MTL) Fortnight programme aimed to create an environment that encouraged students to use their MTL and to better appreciate the heritage and culture associated with these languages. During Term 1 Weeks 9 and 10, the Mother Tongue teachers provided students with opportunities to be immersed in an environment conducive to the learning of MTL.

Chinese Language (CL)
The Secondary 2 Express, Normal Academic and Normal Technical CL students participated in Chinese knotting. Chinese knot (中国结) is a decorative handicraft art that began as a form of Chinese folk art during the Tang and Song Dynasties in China.

The Secondary 1 RKS Adams boys learnt about Broadcast Journalism. They were taught how to conduct interviews, report news "live" on site and shoot video footage of newsworthy events.

Tamil Language (TL)
The Secondary 1 TL students attended a cultural workshop where they learnt basic Tamil traditions such as the tying of garlands and thoranams using flowers and banana leaves which serve as essential items in most Tamil-based events. Besides learning the process of making these items, they also learnt the significance of presenting them in events.

The Secondary 2 and 3 TL students attended a Poetry workshop conducted by a renowned writer. The boys were introduced to various forms of poem-writing styles and poetry recitals.

Malay Language (ML)
During the Mother Tongue Fortnight, there were several activities for lower and upper secondary boys. Our Sec 1 and 2 students went to the Singapore River for their learning journey while the Sec 3 and 4 students were involved in Arts Appreciation workshops and they learnt silat as a basic martial art.

We also had programmes for the graduating classes such as Intensive 'O' level revision sessions and Oral Clinic workshops. Lastly, the Sec 4 and 5s had a Cultural Appreciation session.

RIVER STUDIES PROGRAMME

Safety briefing by Mr Michael Lim before collection of water samples from Kallang River

This year, our Saints River Studies programme started with our Secondary 1A boys on 21 Jan and ended with Secondary 1M boys on 10 April. The training involved one session of Science laboratory work and the other was a hands-on group activity at the Kallang river near the bridge leading to St Andrew's Junior College. The Secondary One pupils were taught basic water testing techniques using various sensors: temperature sensor, pH sensor, dissolved oxygen sensor, conductivity sensor, salinity sensor and turbidity sensor.

As part of our ICT training, pupils were taught how to use and apply the QR code for these techniques if they wanted to use this for a review at any point of time. The digital photos which the various groups took during the laboratory and field work (outdoor water testing session) were compiled into a CD and given to each group as resource material. Each team was then required to put together a presentation of their findings in Powerpoint using their pictures, short video clips and write-ups. The training in and importance of keeping our water resources clean was emphasized so that we can enjoy the diversity of ecological life in our river-waters.

Learning how to measure the depth accurately

Explaing and interacting with pupils

Recording and analysing readings from the sensors

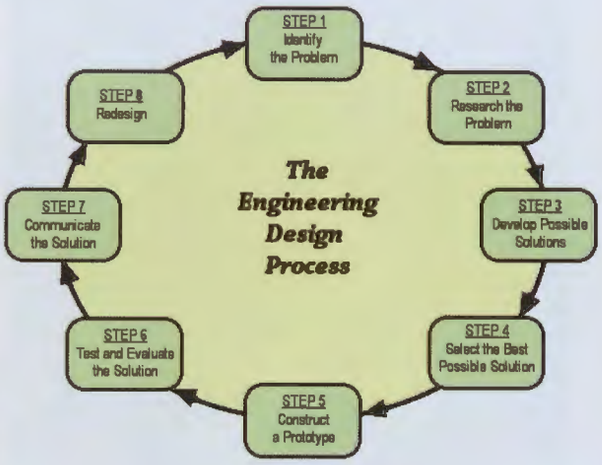

Training for different sensors

Measuring the depth of the river using weights and metre rulers

PROJECT:
THE YOUNG SCIENTIST PROGRAM

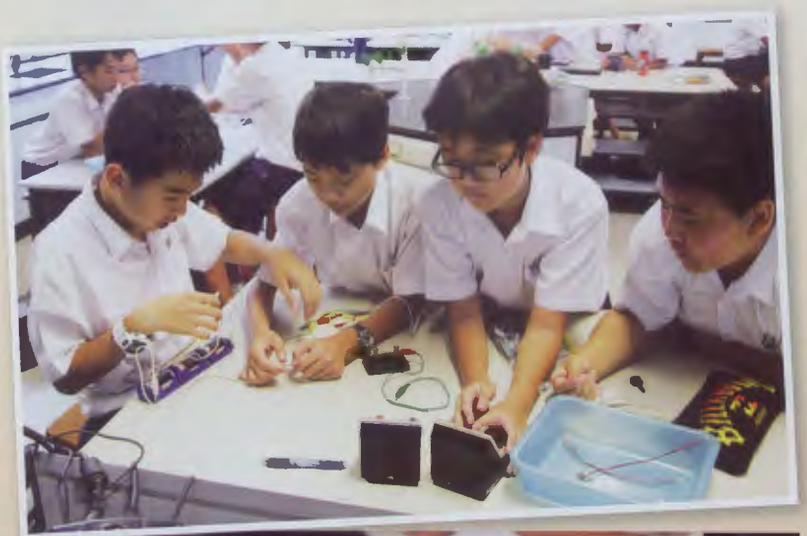

Aim: To provide an authentic learning experience through relating science to daily life to help inculcate the spirit of scientific inquiry in our lower secondary boys and to develop critical thinking skills needed for problem-based learning in science.

Process: LSS students will undergo the scientific enquiry process (test a hypothesis, plan and conduct an experiment, make observations, record data and form conclusions) using Engineering Design Process.

DNT TRIP TO KOREA

The Korea trip was an enriching and fruitful experience for the students that went on the 2013 Art and D & T school trip. For many of us, exploring the sights and sounds of the streets of Seoul, and to taste the different flavours of Korean cuisine, was a first.

During the trip, we spent much of our time learning about the various forms of Design in our modern lifestyles, both artistically and technically. Having visited a multitude of places, such as specialised animation studios and prehistoric sites, we learnt a lot about the work and effort put into the creation of our modern day products, as well as to appreciate the unique cultural differences in art across various countries.

Of course, the trip was more than just academic. Throughout the trip, us students got to meet new people, both from within our school and outside, and bond together as schoolmates and Saints at Incheon Middle School. Many of us definitely appreciated the "shopping breaks" that were given to us, and even more the wide varieties of food that we came to enjoy.

Compared to other school trips I have gone on, I certainly enjoyed this particular trip tremendously, and if an opportunity to take up a similar trip arose, I would definitely take it.

BOYS BRIGADE

The Boys' Brigade relies heavily on old boys who return to serve in the capacity of Volunteer Adult Leaders (VALs) every week. They give their life as a service to the Lord in impacting and mentoring the next generation of Saints. They take up mentoring roles as officers and primers to the boys in the Company, guiding and instilling discipline in the boys, facilitating the development of the boys in various skills such as drills, adventure skills (encompassing map-reading, orienteering) as well as character development. The boys maintain a close relationship with the VALs and in turn return to serve alongside them after graduation.

NATIONAL POLICE CADET CORPS

There is a significant number of old boys who contribute to SANPCC by training and guiding the current leaders and assisting the teachers in ensuring that the trainings run smoothly and successfully. They operate in front of and behind the scenes from vetting training proposals to overseeing Friday trainings. They make themselves available as they are passionate about the CCA and want to repay the CCA for moulding them into what they are today. They believe they can do so by imparting their skills, knowledge and values to the future generation of cadets whom they hope will join their ranks one day and likewise contribute to SANPCC.

ST JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE

Ex-SJAB cadets who passed out last year - Jonathan Liew Ze-Hao, Sean Tan Jun Eng, Aldwin Chew Kwok Wei, Khairul Farid Wee, Tan Chong Le, Andre Wong, Ryan Han and Dior Ng - volunteered to train the cadets for First Aid and Foot Drill Competition this year for 10 weeks and during the March holidays. This demonstrated their value of having a strong 'Sense of belonging'. The old boys felt that their help was needed to bring up the standard of training in the school for first aid and foot drill since this is a core training in SJAB. We really appreciate our old boys for volunteering their help!

QUOTABLE QUOTES

St Andrew's St John was formed in 1955. Since then, our Corps has been actively building up young saints beyond our core activities such as first aid, foot drill and proficiency courses. We have also successfully built in them character as well as values such as leadership, integrity, discipline, respect and ruggedness. We have quite a few success stories from our old boys – how the CCA has been more than just an "after school" activity to them and how through the SASJ, they have learnt to give and to love much, to study and train hard, and to play even harder. The camaraderie they have built up lasts for years to come.

ST ANDREW'S COMMUNITY CHOIR

The St Andrew's Community Choir is made up of Saints of all ages, joined by their love for the School and for singing.

Here, Saints sing with their former School mates and for some, their former students. The Choir first came together in 2013 to sing for the School's Founder's Day.

On 25 April 2014, the Choir guest sang at the Saints Choir Concert at the Old St Andrew's School Hall.

This season's Choir comprised Andrew Chan, Choo Yan Min, Sean Foo, Nigel Han, Javier Khoh, Ariel Koh, Ethan Liew, Eugene Ho, Brian Lim, Timothy Lum, Phoon Kok Kwong, Reuben John, and Tan Boon Thye.

ARTS FOR THE SAINTS

ARTS for the Saints started off with more than a song and dance with the lyrical and rhythmic strings of the T'ang Quartet. 'Introduction to Jazz' by the Band, Choir and 'O' level Music students got students grooving along to the strains of Gershwin and Henry Mancini, whilst the Danz People danced a broadway number with some of the boys. In 'Talking Body Language', Roger Jenkins' sublime messaging about self-awareness made an impression with his use of theatre masks. The semester came to a close for the two-day ARTS Festival with nine different arts workshops for the boys, almost half of which were taught by our own staff.

Reflections for the year:

2014 marks a new beginning for our football teams as we have been blessed with Mr Gary Ang, who is our new Coach for the 'C' Division, as well as the Coach for our Strength and Conditioning Programme. With his expertise in football coaching as well as fitness and physiotherapy qualifications, we are focusing on developing the boys' stamina and strength with a specialized training programme.

We plan on making football a bigger part of St Andrew's by increasing the number of training sessions to three times a week starting from Semester 2 in 2014 as part of pre-season training. More friendly matches are also in the pipeline to give our boys as much exposure as possible. With greater focus and intensive training, we are striving for success in the near future.

WATER POLO

Last December, 20 of the Water Polo boys were handpicked by the former coach, Mr Ng Ker Wei, for a training trip in Kuala Lumpur. During the training overseas, the boys participated in friendly matches with the Negri Sembilan and Kuala Lumpur Water Polo teams from which they gained valuable learning experiences.

This year, our 'C' Division fought hard in the nationals to emerge as 5th place winners while the 'B' Division managed to keep their spirits up despite losing their matches.

In April, we welcomed our new coaches, Mr Alvin Voon and Miss Fiona Zhang, as they embark on a journey together with our boys to improve their skills in the sport.

The Water Polo team will also be taking part in this year's Barker's Challenge and a possible overseas training trip in December.

"Ohana means family, and family means that nobody gets left behind." – Lilo and Stitch

The Saints Debate family has had its closest-knit and most fruitful year yet in 2014. As past-year debaters support our current team in reaping what they have sown, so has our team made ready to serve their successors in the coming days.

Singapore Secondary Schools Debating Championships 2014

Our school team brought the Saints name to the National Debating Semi-Finals for the first time in recent history. Our team held strong with four decisive victories in earlier rounds before losing by one point to National Junior College in the Semi-Finals. Although saddened by the loss, the school team is proud to have gone so far on their own effort without a coach.

Besides being placed 3rd, ahead of professionally-trained schools like Temasek Academy and St. Margaret's, SASS has maintained its ranking in the top 20 ranked speakers. This year we have not one, but two speakers ranked 10th and 11th respectively: Pramodh Chandran and Melvinder Singh of 4SA.

Sec 1 RKS Debate Workshops

Our school team continues to inculcate the love of debate and critical thinking by conducting in-class mini workshops for the Sec 1 RKS boys. To be good debaters, one first has to be a good listener; certainly our Sec 1 boys were a rapt audience as our school team taught and demonstrated the basics of argumentation.

St Andrew's Junior School Pupils' Learning Festival 2014

Our Lower Secondary debaters put their skills to the test in the SAJS Pupils' Learning Festival. They ran several continuous debate workshops for several levels of the junior school students, teaching them the fundamentals of argumentation and spreading to them the love of debate.

Old Boys' Debate Mentorship

The Saints' debate culture carries on, as our old boys and their friends from the SAJC Debate & Oratorical Society regularly return across the bridge to train our SASS debaters. This year, we have had the whole of last year's school team, as well as past years' Best Speakers Abel George and Ashruff, returning to coach our team. Our current team's oratory bears the hallmarks of past generations' style, so that each generation that passes through stamps its mark on the next. Few things are more heartwarming than seeing a current speaker step up, tip a wink to the Saints' audience and join the fray with a line taught to him by a senior.

The debate family continues to grow in strength and spirit.

ACHIEVEMENTS:

1. Won SSSDCs Preliminary Round 1 against C.H.I.J. Katong Convent
2. Won SSSDCs Preliminary Round 2 against Australian International School
   Best Speaker: Melvinder Singh
3. Won SSSDCs Preliminary Round 3 against Crescent Girls' School

"You can't love a library of e-books. You can't furnish a room with e-books" - Joanna Trollope (Writer)

Books Added

At this point of writing, about 150 books have been added to the Library collection, being a combination of Library purchases and donations from several old boys to whom we are eternally grateful.

The annual book purchasing exercise was carried out in February, with a slight change in how books were selected. This year, 10 student librarians followed the staff on our trip to Kinokuniya Bookstore (Ngee Ann City) to help select books to be purchased. We hope that with the students selecting the books that will appear on the shelves, it will lead to a more student-orientated book collection that will appeal to the reading preferences of students.

Partnerships

As in previous years, the Library was used to conduct the NRIC registration exercise in the 1st semester and the NHB student health check at the start of the 2nd Semester. We are happy to report that both exercises were carried out smoothly.

The Library continues to be the 'home ground' for the School Debate Society during the National Julia Gabriel Debate Competition. Much effort went into preparing for the competition and the Library operating hours were extended till 10 pm for the exclusive use of the debaters. We are happy to report that this year's team managed 2 ranked best speakers in the Division 2 competition and achieved a semi-finalist placing. We would like to congratulate, Melvinder Singh (4SA), Pramod Chandran (4SA), Lim Neng Du (4SA), Craig Justin Tan (4SB), and Bryan Ho (4SA) on their semi-finalist placing as well as Pramodh Chandran and Melvinder Singh on being ranked the 10th and 11th best speakers respectively in the Julia Gabriel Secondary Schools Debate series.

Renovations

The Library undertook an upgrading exercise this year to change the library book stacks. About S$6 000 was spent to upgrade the Library stacks with adjustable height shelves. The shelves were also re-orientated within the Library so as to allow more natural light to spill in through the windows. As a result, we have more shelf space and a much larger floor area which can potentially be used to conduct events within the premises.

"I read all the time. I love it. My fantasy would be to be locked in a library. I'd be very, very happy" - Pink (Singer)

HOSTING OPPORTUNITIES:

We managed to play host for the following activities in the library:

Sec 2: Engaged in setting up and assisting in all events. In-charge of minor events.

Sec 3: Provide training and administering all events. In-charge of all major events.

Sec 4/ Sec 5: Senior members provide advanced training and mentorship to all juniors.

On some training days, we play games to foster the team-bonding spirit among the crew.

SERVICE:

The St Andrew's Public Address (PA) club aspires to be one of the most fulfilling and enriching clubs at St Andrew's Secondary School.

Our services are essential for the operation of events and major functions such as orientation camps, Speech Day and Open House. Our main goal is to inculcate values of serving and belonging which is congruent with the school's strategic thrust.

Our team of passionate and dedicated crew members constantly ensures that all events are carried out successfully.

   The highlight of the year was the 3rd Singapore Student Photography Conference (SSPC) held on 21st March. It was organised by the Centre of Excellence for Design (St Andrew's Secondary School) in collaboration with 10 other schools. It was a resounding success with 304 student participants gathering at Geylang Methodist Secondary to share their knowledge of photography. A total of 22 workshops were conducted by 120 student trainers. The schools participating were:

   Chong Boon Secondary
   Dunman High
   Dunman Secondary
   Fairfield Methodist Secondary
   First Toa Payoh Secondary
   Geylang Methodist Secondary
   MacPherson Secondary
   Paya Lebar Methodist Girls' Secondary
   Pei Hwa Secondary
   St Andrew's Secondary School
   St Anthony's Canossian Secondary

We were honoured to have Mr Kenneth Kwok, Director of Arts & Youth and Strategic Planning at the National Arts Council, grace the Conference. Mrs Lucy Toh was also present to support us. Our guest speakers, Dr Leslie Tay and Mr Shawn Chia, shared about their journey as photographers and showcased some of their insightful images on film. We are most grateful to our 2 sponsors, Canon and Overjoyed, for their faithful support since 2012.

SAINTS FOR CHRIST

When we meet: Thursdays, 3:30pm - 5pm

Where we meet: Chaplaincy Room

Saints For Christ (SFC) is a CCA that aims to provide students with a fellowship where they feel belonged to, a place where they can grow as Christians, and where they have opportunities to serve the school and fellow Saints.

With activities ranging from devotions, Bible studies, worship encounters (e.g. Saints Ablaze is a quarterly gathering of Christians from St Andrew's Secondary School), outings, sports, games and camps, students have fun bonding with one another even as they are equipped to become mature Christians. The close bond of friendship between students, teachers and pastoral staff is a refreshing highlight in this CCA. This year, one area of personal development we are looking at is communication skills. The aim is to equip SFC members with good communication skills that will enable them to become better leaders and effective witnesses for the gospel.

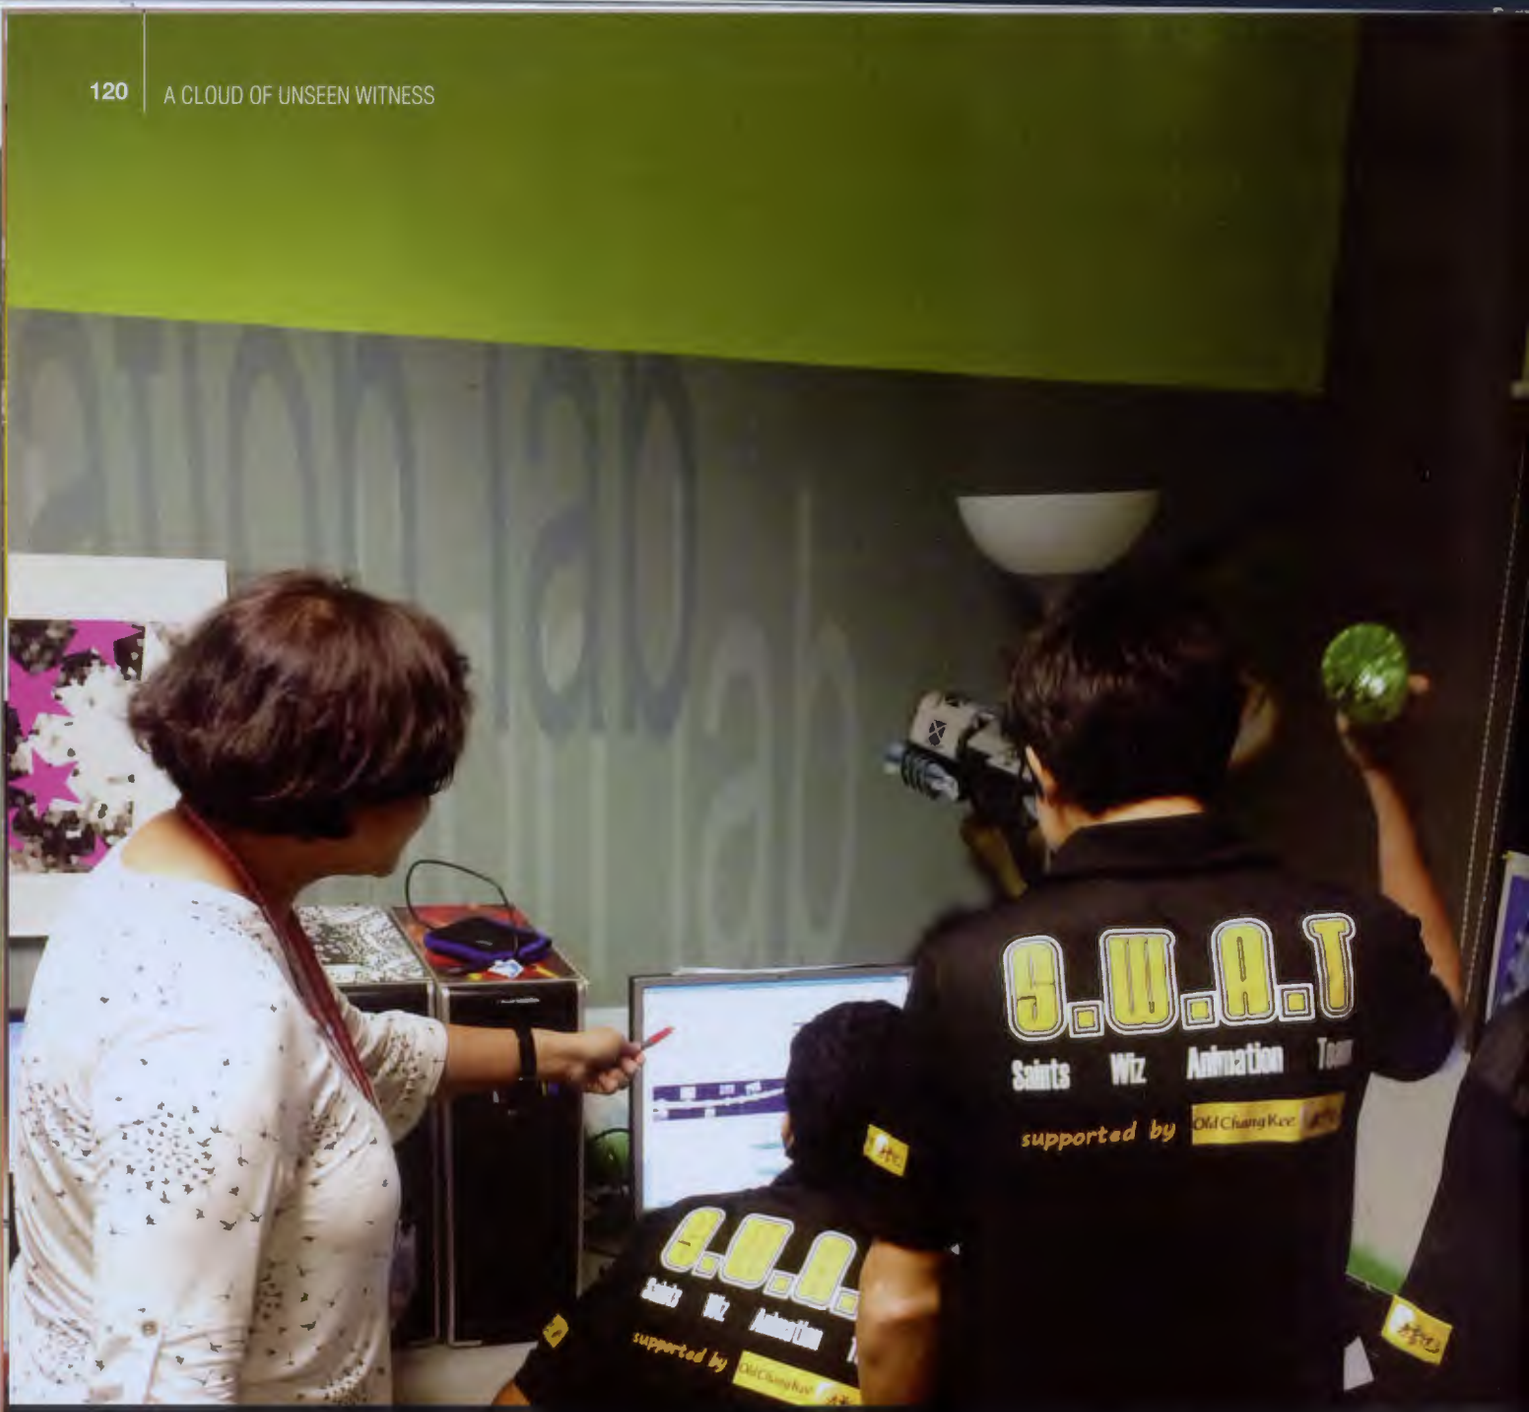

Perhaps the quality which is unique to SFC is that one need not possess extraordinary talents or skills to be part of the CCA. Rather, the diversity that comes from different students coming together in friendship and service is a joy to witness. In the coming years, the dream is that more students will be able to experience the love of God, the friendship of brothers, and the joy in service in this CCA known as SFC.

S.W.A.T. has always been looking into diversity as far as software knowledge is concerned. While the Tan Lye Whatt lab had been predominantly using Maxon C4D, the team is now trained in Autodesk Maya from Secondary One!

Maya will be the team's staple software aligned with the industry's current practice.

Having said that, in the spirit of diversifying and encouraging adaptability, the team uses face generating and a wide range of other software that will help in a post-production task.

CraveFX's Mr Kliff Chan trained the boys for a 15 week programme. The team was also blessed to have Ms Chen Jiahui, a graduate of NTU's School of the Arts Media and Design, who assisted in supervising the graduating seniors to design a brand new banner-sticker for the outside wall of the lab.

Then there was Ms Cheong Sze Yenn who also had experience in animation and graphics design. She left us in July to further her studies. The boys are more motivated this year and we hope they will excel and do their best in producing great visual experiences for the school.

Competitions and exhibition details are not available at press time, so do check out our website www.saints-swat.com for updated details!

SYFC has a bunch of dedicated old boys who are always willing to help the club. Jonald Tan, Mark Yaohua, Jayakrishnan, Howie Chia and Elwin are all ex members of SYFC and they have contributed a lot towards the Club. They arranged for SYFC's 10th year anniversary celebrations last year and this year, they are again organizing a chalet in June for all of us to get together. The alumni have contributed banners and T-shirts for the current batch of SYFC students. The alumni and teachers meet about twice every semester to discuss various Club matters. The alumni members are also invited during school camps to take part in the "Passing Out Parade" of the Sec 4s.The teachers and alumni keep in constant touch through e-mails and text messages. We take this opportunity to thank all the members of the alumni for being great supporters of the SYFC.
