Make Us Faithful

This line from our School Hymn which we sing every other Monday really underscores the importance we place not just in the present but also on the past and on the future.

The days of old have dowered us
With gifts beyond all praise;
Our Father, make us faithful
To serve the coming days.

In St Andrew's we value the past because the exploits and endeavours of our seniors inspire us to likewise aim for excellence both in the classroom and on the field, on stage as well as in company. Not only that, in reprising the past, we see God's hand of blessing and providence always extended to the School. I trust you will therefore turn the pages of this magazine with the expectation that the deeds captured here will contribute to that sense of what it is to be a Saint.

But even as we cannot live in the past, we should not only be living for the present but also for the future. Here is where lie the hopes and wishes of all those who wish the Saints well. We, the teachers and the staff, would like to see every boy do well not just in studies and in CCAs but even more so in the way he leads his life.

Above all, it is our sincere wish that our boys keep faith with the spirit of the School, to be part of that family that will serve and that will glory in being able to be of service to our community, our peers and those less fortunate.

Mrs Belinda Charles Principal

"In St Andrew's we value the past because the exploits and endeavours of our seniors inspire us to likewise aim for excellence both in the classroom and on the field, on stage as well as in company.

Make Us Faithful

"Our Father make us faithful", the line taken from the School hymn, must be properly understood as a personal request for God's help to remain faithful in all things that please Him. It is not about asking God to supernaturally make us faithful, though some may wish that it could be this simple.

Faithfulness is a virtue which requires also our effort and commitment and trust to be loyal, constant and steadfast to God and to His instructions.

No one is spared from temptations that attempt to derail us from our good standing in our communities.

We live in a world that is seeing more people and families wrecked due to unfaithfulness. Famous sports personalities, politicians and ordinary citizens, who once were labelled as champions of faithfulness to good moral values, have fallen prey to their sinful desires.

No one is spared from temptations that attempt to derail us from our good standing in our communities.

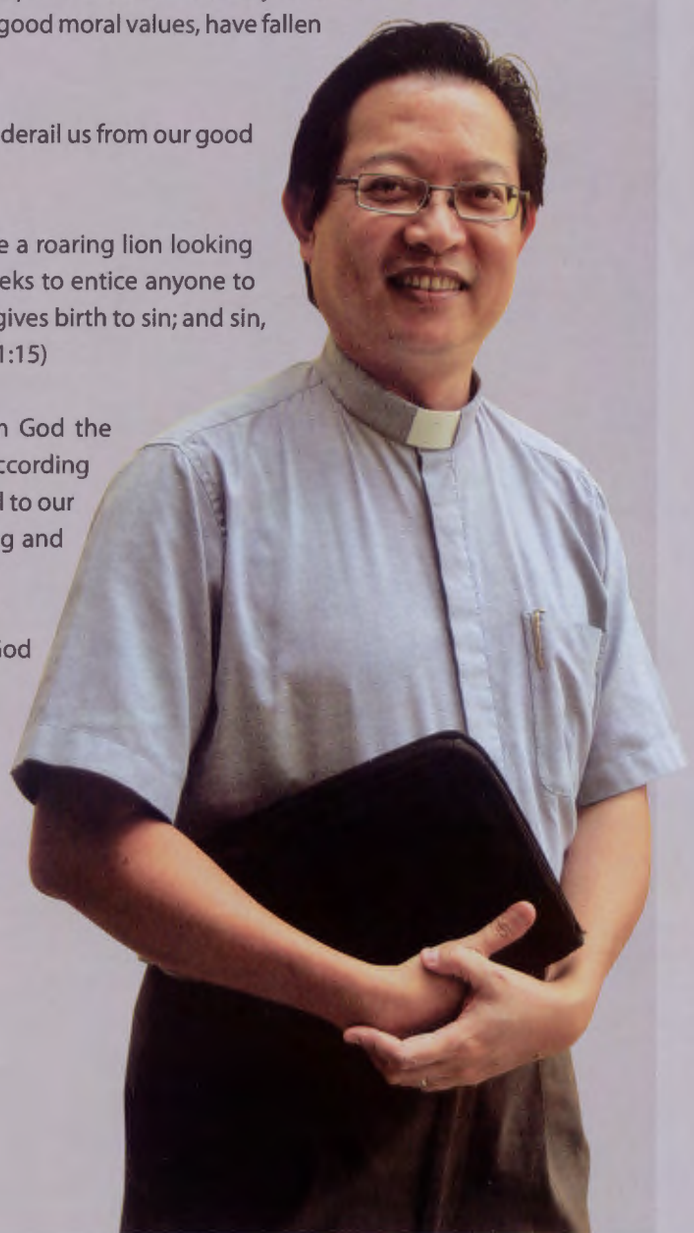

The Bible tells us that "the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour" (1 Peter 5:8). The devil seeks to entice anyone to sinful desires. "Then, after desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death." (James 1:15)

But the good news is that we can get help from God the Father to help us to be faithful to live righteously according to the good moral values found in the Bible; faithful to our spouse if we are married; and faithful to our calling and purpose that God has for each one of us.

So, it is my prayer for myself and for all of us that God will help us to be faithful!

Up And On!

> For the last two years now, watched by every other school, they have been piloting an approach to teach Confidence, Curiosity and Confidence to their students. Speech by Mr Chan Wai Kheong

Distinguished Guests, Board of Governors, Principals, Vice Principals and teachers of St Andrew's School, prize winners and their parents, ladies and gentlemen.

Congratulations to both schools for their meaningful achievements that help our boys be better boys now and great men next time. Both schools have recently been validated, reaching a Band 3 which I am told means they have processes and structures in place. They have also both adopted a gender-based approach that they call Understanding the Hearts and Minds of Boys to understand how boys respond and how they learn so that school programmes can be better calibrated. It has been with this kind of understanding that the secondary school was able to get the Sustained Achievement Award for Academic Value-added last year and will probably get it again this year.

The Junior School has had its Programme for School-based Excellence for several years now, using rugby not just to teach sports and muscle coordination but also to teach values. For the last two years now, watched by every other school, they have been piloting an approach to teach Confidence, Curiosity and Confidence to their students. Their programme to build up student leadership by getting their boys to actively contribute to the process of selection is enviable even among older students.

The Senior School has been developing specialized programmes for the very different needs among their students. Five years ago, they started the Adams class for top students to stretch their abilities beyond just exams. The first Adams class to graduate obtained a mean subject grade of 1.8. That means these students were averaging between an A1 and an A2! Four years ago, the school started the Marshall Plan for Normal Technical students that have lifted results to a level not seen before with 20% of the students getting 4 to 5 As when before there were at most 2 students getting 2 As . Two years ago, the school started Jacob's Ladder for the Normal Academic and already, academic grades have started to improve.

But more importantly, both schools have made character education a priority. It shows they understand that achievement without good values is worthless. Winning without being able to choose right from wrong is of no use.

The theme for this year's Founder's Day is taken from the school hymn that you sing once a fortnight and which contains so many relevant truths still.

Being faithful is not a popular concept. It is certainly not glamorous and certainly not innovative. In fact it is old fashioned. You might even ask if it is still needed in this day and age when many things are sacrificed for convenience and for acquisition.

But as you just heard from the two principals, it is certainly something they have relied upon from their teachers as well as from old boys and alumni. In fact, as an old boy, I am very proud to have been part of the fundraising efforts that enabled us to build up St Andrew's Village, complete with two sports fields and a swimming pool.

When we first started under the chairmanship of another faithful old boy, Mr Koh Boon Hwee, it was not a good time. The economy was down, there were acts of terrorism that made everyone scared to travel, and it was the year when SARS happened. The fundraising committee actually felt like cutting down on some of the facilities because they just did not know how to raise that money. But our old boys were faithful, and instead of the targeted $7 million, they finally raised $11 million.

When you look at the prizes being given out today, each named after an illustrious former student or a much loved teacher or in memory of a parent, it is all about faithfulness. The prizes are given by former students who cherish memories of school. Some were given in the name of teachers whose faithfulness in teaching inspired so many students. Quite a few are given in the name of parents whose sacrifices or example that their children wish to commemorate.

The Yee Pau Scholarship is given by the sons of Mr Yee Pau who had sent all of them to study at St Andrew's. One of those sons is with us in the hall today. He is Mr Yee Teck Peng.

The Lenn Mei Ling Award is given to honour a teacher who died young but yet in that short time, she had such an impact on students, and at least on one of them, that not only is there an award in her name but also a room named after her.

The DD Chelliah Maths Prize is given by the children of Dr Chelliah to honour a man whom they are very very proud of. As a parent myself, I would wish my children would hold me in such great honour and respect when I pass on.

The latest scholarship, the Kheng Whay Scholarship, is given by an old boy who having prospered, would like to bless the school, in turn. He has named the scholarship after his mother.

When I was given the opportunity to name a facility, I named it after my father whose adherence to certain principles in life I have never forgotten. Many people remember him as the first local pilot to attain command and be promoted to captain in the mid fifties, long before you were born.

But I remember him for his unrelenting efforts at self-betterment, that showed that dedication and discipline were at the heart of his profession. My father believed that being a pilot was more than just about honour and prestige; it was about being thoroughly professional.

In the world of work, faithfulness never goes out of fashion. As many successful CEOs have found, you can buy talent, you can pay for experience but no money in the world can buy integrity. At the same time, in the order of things, nothing is so important as character, not intelligence, not ability, not innovativeness.

In the banking industry, this certainly holds true. Banks were always held to be trust-worthy and cautious about taking risks. That is why there was this huge fall-out two years ago that caused a great global crisis because people lost their trust in banks. People found banks were taking risks that should not have been taken.

Back here in school, we as old boys naturally want to see the school succeed. We would like to see it getting recognized for academic achievement, winning in sports and games as well as in other CCAs. I hear the roar the old boys give every time they know the school won especially at rugby. I know the quiet satisfaction when they hear the academic achievements of the school.

But as the world gets more complicated, as families have less time together to bond and to pass down values, every old boy is anxious that the school will set the environment where boys will know to do the right thing and not just be successful, but be faithful both in the little things and the big things.

I believe the graduating classes are here today in full force. Let me read you the whole sentence from the hymn : "Our Father, make us faithful to serve the coming days". Gentlemen, you will by next year be a young 'old boy'. I trust you will return to serve, together with that cloud of unseen witness, and be a true part of the Saints family – One Family Unbroken.

As many successful CEOs have found, you can buy talent, you can pay for experience but no money in the world can buy integrity. At the same time, in the order of things, nothing is so important as character; not intelligence, not ability, not innovativeness.

Founder's Day Valedictory Speech 2010

Speech by School Dux, 2010

To our guest of honour, Mr. Chan Wai Kheong, Mrs. Belinda Charles, members of the board, distinguished guests, teachers, parents and Saints, a very good afternoon to all of you. It is a great joy and honour to be back here, representing the class of 2009 in sharing the experiences and the dreams that have been fostered here in St. Andrew's, which continue to follow us till today.

I guess it really does take a village to raise a child: here in St. Andrew's the teachers are like our parents, the principals and vice-principals are the village elders and the students are the young, curious children waiting to explore a beckoning world. And what this village does best is to transform lives: some of us had to be reigned in and disciplined; others had to be brought out of their shells. It was a place to be nurtured and to grow in.

Assembly periods were a crucial point in this process, where teachers and staff would give their own personal testimonies and words of wisdom. Many a time when I found myself faced with a problem I could not solve, God would reveal his answers through morning devotion. I remember how Mrs. Daphne Ang once shared a story of how a father was forced to let his son be run over by a train in order to save the entire train full of people: it helped me learn how sometimes, in order to benefit others, you must personally sacrifice something that is of value to you. The importance of these stories and testimonies cannot be underestimated.

Similarly, the little things that teachers and staff do or say for us students may not be appreciated until we come to realise what they encompass. For example, Mrs. Charles' evaluation of the cohort's performance for the preliminary examinations and her constant reminders for us to "wake up!" eventually led to many of us seeing the reality of the situation at that time. Many of us started asking for sample papers; started finishing our ten year series at light speed; and started re-reading textbooks and worksheets and notes.

Yes, let us thank our teachers for their foresight. Let's thank Mr. Michael Lim for his killer Physics papers, which made us sit up and think about problems we had never considered before; let's say a big thank you to Ms. Joanna Chew's deadlines, which actually make you thankful for more time to study when you find out that it's actually set two whole weeks earlier than the national deadline!

I think most of us will know how the teachers in Saint Andrew's worry and mull over their students' academic performance and behaviour, and how it extends beyond school hours and curriculum. Teachers, I know that when you ask us to work hard, you are always prepared to work even harder. The first person to come to mind would be Mrs. Yeo Yuen Chin, who would hold lessons every Saturday to help us keep up with our Chemistry syllabus. Also, Ms. Jacintha Leong, who stayed in school with us till ungodly hours finishing preparations for the youth water conference; Mr. Lam Wai Leong, under whose tutelage we drew inspiration from Stalin's moustache and emoticons like these in Powerpoint slides during History lessons; and Miss Deborah Gan, who often had to finish her lunch surrounded by students clamouring for her attention on their worksheets in the Music Room. These are all examples of how teachers have dedicated their lives to educating their students.

"I think most of us will know how the teachers in Saint Andrew's worry and mull over their students' academic performance and behaviour, and how it extends beyond school hours and curriculum.

Teachers, we know that what you want to see are not just A1s and flying colours, but also the smiles on the faces of students who got their O or N level transcripts, calling family and friends frantically to tell them the good news. Even though I am unable to mention all that have helped us here, I want to thank all our teachers, and I hope you will go on giving the gift of teaching to future generations of Saints. Allow me to borrow a phrase from Ms. Joanna Chew: "We are eternally grateful."

There are also the non-teaching staff to remember: everyone from the administrative staff at the general office, the operation managers and the IT staff to the canteen stall vendors and the janitors. Our school journey would not have been complete without them, for they helped maintain an environment in which we could study, work and play. I had the chance to look through the archives with Mr. Kenneth Yeo, which allowed me to discover the original melody to the school song as well as the history to our school crest. As you can see, the efforts of the non-teaching staff contribute to the heartbeat of the school as well, keeping alive its efficiency, vitality and spirit.

Last but not least, we have to remember our schoolmates: here in Saint Andrew's there is a constant spirit of competitiveness, but we are constantly reminded that we would not be just fighting amongst ourselves, but with the rest of the student population in Singapore during the national exams. We were taught to, as Mr. Ng Chee Keong put it, "share technology" with each other, sharing processes and methods to reach the goals that we had envisioned for ourselves at the beginning of each year.

Like what one author said: "God has not called us to see through each other, but to see each other through."

One person whom I remember collaborating in this aspect with is Joshua Lim Dejie, one of my fellow art students. Having joined the art class only in Secondary 4, I would have some trouble with my drawings during the coursework process. I was able to consult Joshua for his opinion and feedback on my drawings, and in return I would suggest solutions when he needed help with his video work. Joshua was also a passionate dancer and his sharing extended to helping me understand the mechanisms of hip-hop and bboy dance, which he also used in his coursework. Like what one author said: "God has not called us to see through each other, but to see each other through." In St. Andrew's, we all made friends who have, and will, see us through the challenges we will face in life.

My class had a motto that I'm sure many of you here would agree with: "To live, to learn, to love, to leave a legacy." I believe one prominent student who followed these words is Joel Koh, affably known as JK. Joel. During his course of study in this school, he took up numerous leadership roles and always strived to do his best during class, eventually being awarded the Saint Andrew's Old Boys Association Gold Scholarship. Joel is an example of someone who truly lived out his ambitions, loved his fellow schoolmates, learned to his greatest ability, and left a lasting legacy. Friends like Joel helped us all see that we could all strive towards the highest standards and the loftiest goals if we put our hearts and minds to it.

Plutarch, the Roman historian, once said: "What we achieve inwardly will change outer reality." For the Class of 2010 and subsequent cohorts, I would like to ask: what goals have you set yourself? Are you aiming to achieve the best you can for your final exams? Are you planning to be the next big thing in the music industry? Do you simply just want to have a go at bungee jumping off the tallest cliff in the world?

Just remember: goals are aspirations with a deadline. When your dreams and aspirations are deferred, this is how the poet Langston Hughes describes what happens in his poem, (A Dream Deferred)

What happens to a dream deferred?
Does it dry up
Like a raisin in the sun?
Or fester like a sore--
And then run?
Does it stink like rotten meat?
Or crust and sugar over--
like a syrupy sweet?
Maybe it just sags
like a heavy load.
Or does it explode?

Saints, I hope that none of us will end up deferring any dreams. Instead of letting them dry up like a raisin, let's chase those dreams with the strength and courage that our life in St. Andrew's has given us. Up and On!

SPECIAL TRIBUTE TO MRS CHARLES

As this is Mrs Belinda Charles' swansong at St Andrew's, Publications decided to put together a collection of some of her best photo shots, together with an expression students may have heard Mrs Charles say over her years here, as a tribute to her.

"A saint is a person through whom the light shines.

Here is a good wish for Mrs Charles from Isaac Tang En-de, School Captain, on behalf of all of us here at St Andrew's Secondary:

Thank you for being an inspiring Principal. You epitomize what it means to be a well-respected and God-fearing leader. May the Lord bless you in your future endeavours.

SPECIAL REPORT ON THE YOUTH OLYMPIC GAMES FOR ST ANDREW'S SECONDARY SCHOOL

YOG at SAV

Journey of the Youth Olympic Flame

The Youth Olympic Flame which arrived in Singapore on 7th August 2010, arrived at St Andrew's Village on the second day where it was lit by our Guest-of-Honour, Senior Minister Professor S Jayakumar. Accompanying him were the chairman of the Singapore Youth Olympic Games Organising Committee, Mr Ng Ser Miang and our Minister for Community Development, Youth and Sports, Dr Vivian Balakrishnan. Mrs Belinda Charles was present together with the principal of SAJC, Mrs Lee Bee Yann and the principal of SAJS, Mrs Wai Yin Pryke.

Our boys, Mohd Fadhil of Secondary 5N1, Naresh s/o Kunasegaran and Matt Joosa of Secondary 4N1, were especially privileged and overjoyed to be chosen as torch-bearers from the secondary school for this historic occasion.

YOG Village

Mrs Charles presenting Dr Ripinga with a token of appreciation from the school

Editor's Note: Being at the first every Youth Olympic Games (YOG) was really an exciting and memorable event for our school prefects. They were at the Youth Olympic Village to man the South African booth. South Africa was the country St Andrew's twinned with. During the short span of three days, our prefects met and interacted with athletes from all over the world. It was an unforgettable and totally enriching experience mingling with people from many different cultures. Here is a recollection of what they did.

On our first day, we brought along a great deal of things to the Village but our experience more than made up for our fatigue at the end. There was a little hassle over a pass that one of us did not have when we reached Boon Lay and tried to board the shuttle bus that was to take us into the Village. To make matters worse on that morning, we alighted at the wrong stop and found that we had to walk 2.5km to the main entrance. Those who were on duty that day took a cab while the rest had to walk the distance.

When we finally reached the Village, we had to carry the luggage up a tall flight of stairs. It was tiring but we managed to do it. The booth that we manned was small and cramped but we learnt to bear with the discomfort as we got down to the task of setting it up. We experienced some difficulty putting up various pictures and paraphernalia portraying different aspects of South Africa as the tape that we were using was not exactly of a very good quality. Nevertheless, we managed to get it all done up rather nicely in the end.

On the first day, we were all excited as we did not know what, or who, to expect. We were already late when we reached the village and there were athletes walking around and viewing the other booths that had already been set up. Finally, we managed to attract two athletes into our booth. We told them more about the country that we were hosting and showed them the things that we had put on display at the booth. Then, we invited them to play a game of capteh shuttlecock with us. Believe it or not - that was what attracted more athletes to visit our booth after that!

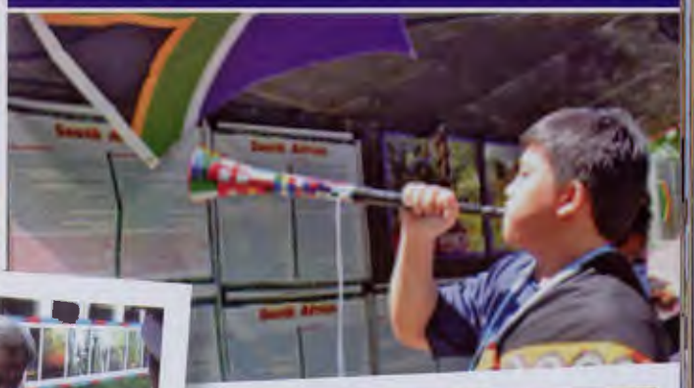

As the day went by, we managed to interact with many of the athletes in the village and got to know more about the different cultures that they came from. We also played games like 5- stones and congkak. Chatting with the athletes when they visited our booth enabled us to know more about the sport that they were participating in and how they found their stay in Singapore. Most of them responded by saying that they really enjoyed their stay here and expressed a desire to come back here for their holidays.

Later in the day, we managed to interact with more athletes. Being at the booth for the whole day from eight in the morning to eight at night was really tiring but we also had great fun, joy and laughter. By visiting other booths, we also made new friends from other schools and we also got to know more about the countries that they were twinning with. During our three days there, the booths at the Village were all from the continent of Africa. We learnt a lot about places like the Niger, Benin, Congo, Angola, Cameroon and many more! Lunch was the most interesting part of the day as we went to an air-conditioned dining hall to eat. The food that they served there was eat. The food that they served there was Asian food and we could have as many servings as we wanted as long as we did not leave the area. We also had to present food coupons which would be collected at the entrance before we entered again. Every booth was given only five coupons for lunch and dinner each day.

Being mischievous, there were times when we also got into trouble. At every booth, there was supposed to be five people mending the booth at any point in time, including the teacher. This was to ensure that in case of an emergency, evacuations could be done smoothly. For our booth, we actually had fourteen people over the three days, far exceeding the maximum requirement. Therefore, the person in-charge told us that the rest had to leave while only five people remained behind to mend the booth. Guess how we got round that problem then? Well, we did not really comply with the part where the rest had to leave the village, but we did comply to only having five people at the booth. And what happened to the rest of the nine other people? Well... they were actually wondering around the whole village, so it was like playing a game of cat-and-mouse for the whole day to avoid being caught!

Also on the first day, Dr Ng Eng Hen, our Minister for Education and Second Minister for Defence, came by and stopped at our booth. He tried out the vuvuzela and experienced the same difficulty that other athletes had in finding it hard to blow the innocent-looking vuvuzela.

Although it rained on the first day, it did not hinder our spirits and we carried on to invite more athletes into the booth. In the evening, our principal Mrs Charles,

Who would have thought the humble capteh shuttlecock would be so captivating?

And of course, we had athletes from our own twinning country. Team South Africa!

accompanied by the junior school principal, Mrs Pryke and the South African High Commissioner, Dr Simeon Ripinga, came to visit our booth. They commented that the booth looked very nice and hoped that we could tell people more about South Africa. That really made us so proud and happy!

As the day came to an end, we had to start packing up to be able to prepare for the next day. Everyone was high in spirits as they did not know what to expect for the remaining two days.

The second day was definitely filled with many exciting events. We brought in a rugby ball to tell people that it is a common sport in South Africa as well as in our school. We started by making short passes outside our booth. This started to attract many athletes to join in the fun by passing the ball to one another. We were also able to meet more new athletes whom we had not seen on the first day of our shift. The feeling when we got to play with the athletes was really something that we will cherish in our hearts forever as we could see how happy and enthusiastic they were to join in with so many others from all over the world to play a simple ball game. No wonder sports unites!

And of course, we had a friendly game of touch rugby with some Australian and Cook island athletes. It was certainly an enjoyable game with them!

Also, not forgetting our booth's main attraction - the capteh!

YOG Report For Boxing

Fourteen SAS Boxing Club members were involved as volunteers in the YOG Boxing Competitions. The boys were experienced in their field as they had trained during the Sijori Boxing Competition over three days in January 2010. They carried out their duties as placard holders for competing nations, ringside helpers and students-in-charge of boxing equipment in a responsible manner.

These boys also gave the crowd a short boxing lesson which was witnessed by the President of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), Mr Jacques Rogge, on the last day of duty which fell on 25th August 2010.

Our boys were so thrilled to be part of the inaugural YOG!

YOG Report For Tennis

Ten of our Secondary 2 and 3 boys were involved in the YOG tennis tournament as ball boys. The boys enjoyed themselves immensely and carried out their duties with a sense of professionalism which belied their years.

The ball boy group consists of both competitive players and recreational players from the tennis programme. The competitive players were inspired by the high standards of play demonstrated by the International Tennis Federation ranked youths. Our boys were equally surprised by the accessibility they had to the players and the willingness of the young Olympians to mingle with them. What a great joy and privilege it was to be in the midst of such awesome players!

SECONDARY ONE INTERDISCIPLINARY PROJECT WORK

Every year, students in Secondary One go through the Interdisciplinary Project Work (IPW) programme to work on a project that will help them see the connections between the subjects they study.

This year's project put students in the shoes of a company designing a heritage trail. To help our students see how a team of professionals design heritage trails, the school collaborated with Thinkscape, a company specializing in this area, to design a 1-day course that included a seminar on the skills needed for their task and a field trip to cultural landmarks in Singapore.

On the 21st of May 2010 all Secondary One students were taken to either Chinatown or Little India. Upon reaching their destination, the students were taken on an inspiring and informative learning journey which helped them to understand their own cultural heritage and the history of the locations that they visited.

Over the following two days, the students attended workshops, led by their teachers, on topics such as "How to develop a quote for your client", "The science of the Kallang River" and "Developing mapping skills". Each of these workshops taught students how they could apply the subjects that they learn at school to real world scenarios.

Students then used these skills to put themselves in the shoes of a learning journey vendor. Students were asked to imagine that a primary school was seeking out their help in planning a learning journey for their Primary Six pupils. In order to impress their client, the Secondary One students were asked to create a brochure and a formal proposal outlining a trail around the Potong Pasir area. This project required them to utilise Maths skills when planning their quote, English skills when writing the formal cover letter as well as Science, Geography, Design and Tecnnology when deciding upon the points of interest to be featured on their trail.

The boys at Saint Andrew's frequently show a desire to understand how their lessons can be applied in "real life" situations. This project gave them a unique opportunity to leave the classroom and understand not only how their subjects overlap, but also how each will play a role in their lives beyond Seondary School.

Easter Food Hampers By SAA

The Alumni raised $20,000 to distribute Easter hampers among students on financial aid in the three schools.

SAPTA Food Fair

SAPTA (St Andrew's Parent-Teacher Association) organized a food fair on 30th July 2010. The students of Sec Two Normal Academic took part in it with great enthusiasm and helped raise funds. The parents were there to show their support and to help the Saints in their endeavour. With extended recesses for both lower and upper secondary classes, the canteen fast became "Makan [eat] Street", with our boys strumming a guitar or hooting their vuvuzelas in their attempts to lure customers to their stalls. It was just as much fun as it was a learning experience for our budding entrepreneurs, under a new programme called Jacob's Ladder for our Normal Academic students.

The St Andrew's Village, together with SBS Transit, launched a display gallery at Potong Pasir MRT station along the North-East Line on 8th April 2010.

This is the first time SBS Transit has given a school a large space to hold an exhibition in a station along the North-East Line. The exhibition space is known as The Village Gallery

The Village Gallery, officiated by our alumnus Mr Georgie Lee, was launched on Woodsville Day, which celebrates when the School first moved to Woodsville more than 70 years on 8 April 1938. Potong Pasir is the community which St Andrew's has become associated with and where many of its students, both old and current, grew up in.

The Village Gallery displays the best of St Andrew's Village in the form of rotating exhibitions. There were two exhibitions in 2010. The first of these, running from April to October this year, featured winning entries from the inaugural Tan Teck Meng Photography Competition organized by St Andrew's Village to spur the growth of photography as an artistic pursuit.

The inaugural Tan Teck Meng Photography Competition, themed "Celebration of Youth", was launched in February 2010. All current students, staff and parents within St. Andrew's School were invited to participate in this competition. Mr Tan's passing in 2009 inspired his cohort of '65 to raise funds for the Tan Teck Meng Photography Competition in his memory.

"We are delighted to be involved in this meaningful partnership with St Andrew's School by providing them with free advertising spaces at our Potong Pasir NEL Station to showcase their students' works. This project will not only liven up the station to offer commuters a visual treat but also enable the school to reach out to the community through this platform," said Mr Gan Juay Kiat, Chief Executive Officer of SBS Transit.

"It is fitting that this display gallery, the first of its kind in an NEL station in Singapore, is located at the Potong Pasir MRT station," said Mr. Georgie Lee. "St Andrew's students have a long history of community service to residents of Potong Pasir going back to the 1950s, providing aid and medical treatment to the poor in the Potong Pasir village, which was then a colony of attap huts without modern sanitation and water supply. The school also provided refuge for residents during two major floods in 1954 and 1967. This Village Gallery will certainly help to bring closer interaction between the St Andrew's Village schools and the community at Potong Pasir."

The school leaders of St Andrew's Village shared similar sentiments. "While the Gallery is a celebration of SAV in Potong Pasir, we hope it will become just the beginning of our efforts to connect with the Potong Pasir community," said Mrs. Belinda Charles. "The community is important to us because it represents in a sense the larger world that we are preparing our students for. If our students can value, respect and support the residents of Potong Pasir, we know they will next time be worthy citizens capable of valuing, respecting and supporting their fellow-men."

St Andrew's Village is the first group of schools in Singapore to have a display gallery in a North East Line station.

We were Top 10 in Nemation 4!

Nemation is an annual animation competition organised by Nexus, a division of Mindef, to engage young people in Total Defence.

It all started in September 2009, when our boys made it to the Top 20 teams from an elimination process that included 1400 or so entries (in the form of story ideas) from about 300 odd teams from the schools islandwide.

They then attended a one-week intensive story-boarding workshop at Nanyang Polytechnic during the September break. From then, they had to 'sell' their idea to a panel of judges from Mindef. They survived the final elimination and made it to the Top 10. Our boys then worked hard for three weeks over the year-end holiday in 2009 to produce a one-minute animatio clip based on the theme of "Why I care about Singapore".

As part of Total Defence celebration, votes for the 10 clips were solicited for via the internet and voting booths on some SBS buses and bus interchanges including one at Toa Payoh. Our school logo, which comes on at the end of the clip, gained much wider reach this year as a result. This was done from 15 January to 1 February 2010.

Competition was stiff as we were in the company of schools like VS, MGS, SOTA, RI(JC), NJC(Secondary) and Dunman High, amongst others. To garner for support, team leader Justin Lau (4SA) went over to both the Junior School and Junior College to speak to both principals. The team would like to thank all Saints for keeping their valuable votes.

The team members are: Justin Lau (4SA), Kelvin Lam (4SB), Russell Goh (3SA) and Isaac Tan (2A).

Lions Befriending Programme

In line with our school's strategic thrust, Efficacious Learning, a Community Involvement Programme (CIP) was arranged for students from Sec 2 RKS Adams. This programme, initiated by one of the students in 2A, Isaac Tan, aims to enhance the students' awareness of the need to contribute to society as part of their character development. Through a total of 3 sessions this year, the boys visited the elderly at Toa Payoh Silvercentre Senior Activity Centre and conducted activities with them.

Activities

In the continued effort to provide holistic education to diverse students, the Jacob's Ladder team and program was officiated in 2010. The program looks into streamlining existing programs and developing new programs to provide academic support, character development and community involvement opportunities for Normal Academic students.

The program was named, partially, after our prominent old boy, Jacob Ballas. His belief was that every boy, regardless of race or background, is entitled to a holistic education. His belief is shared among all members of the team and is deeply ingrained in the program. It is named "Jacob's Ladder" in the hope that our Normal Academic students would "climb up the ladder" like the angels to achieve higher heights.

The program looks into both academic and non-academic initiatives. The Excellence Program (TEP) is one of the new academic initiatives. TEP aims to help selected 1NA, 2NA and 4NA students to achieve academically through peer tutoring, experiential learning and through games.

In addition to the repertoire of Advanced Elective Modules (AEM), we are also offering Elective Modules (EM) to our 3NA students. This year, the students have the opportunity to learn how to spin and mix music, and to practise their public speaking skills when they were asked to host a show.

The team began to explore Service Learning to provide authentic experiential learning while students carry out meaningful community service. 2NA students were tasked to use mathematical tools and taught basic accounting skills to plan a fundraiser food fair. The student planned and executed a highly successful fundraiser during the annual SAPTA Food Fair.

3NA D&T students, in partnership with Tan Tock Seng Hospital, built access ramps for patients undergoing rehabilitation. Students had to employ numerous skills and knowledge learnt during D&T lessons to build a safe and sturdy ramp.

These are in addition to the numerous programs that the school already provides for our Normal Academic students.

Jacob's Ladder - Project Aramsay

A FIVE-DAY ADVENTURE BASED LEARNING PROGRAMME

Project Aramsay 2010 was organized by St Andrew's Secondary for Sec 3 Normal stream classes and conducted by the Republic Polytechnic.

The aim of the programme is to provide opportunities for students to become aware of their own strengths and weaknesses and increase their self- confidence and self-esteem. The other expected outcome is to develop better team spirit and interpersonal skills.

Before the start of the programme, the organizers and trainers from the Republic Polytechnic were provided a short assessment of the students. The trainers then designed activities to specific behavior and helped these students to understand changes they need and want to make after the completion of activities through de-briefs.

In Phase 1, the students went through a series of activities to explore their individuality such as personal fears and apprehensions, self confidence, and self esteem. Activities such as ice-breakers, tricky obstacle courses, games and Art-craft – tie dye were organised. The students established their identity by designing their own colourful and personal T-Shirts.

In Phase 2, they went through team building and trust activities. During this phase, they learnt about respect and understanding personal boundaries, co-operative teamwork, positive communication skills and taking responsibility as a group through activities like rock – climbing, abseiling and trust games.

Kayaking Drills, important for our safety.

Briefing and de-briefing after each activity

Tent Pitching – we are the first and the neatest.

Rock Climbing – thinking, planning and working hard to reach the peak.

Guys, we need co-operative teamwork and responsibility.

River Studies

River Studies Programme

We are into the fourth year of the River Studies Programme. As per normal, all Sec Ones are trained in water testing techniques which they carry out at the Kallang River which runs through St Andrew's Village. The students test for the dissolved oxygen level in the water (DO), the pH , the salinity, the temperature, the turbidity and the conductivity of the water. They also study the types of fish caught from the river just outside the school which comprise mainly of tilapias. They learn about conservation and how to look after the environment along Kallang River. Selected Sec Two students travel along the Kallang River, from the source at Lower Pierce Reservoir, along the Bishan Park, through the Kallang Basin and eventually end up at the Marina Barrage. Along these selected spots, they not only do water testing, they also study how water is managed at these places. In addition, we are in the second year of collaboration with the Nanyang Polytechnic, in the design of Nature Trails along specific areas in Singapore. We have marked out using the Global Positioning System, (GPS), the places we have visited and incorporated into a software designed by the Nanyang Polytechnic, a simple trail of specific landmarks that may be of importance along the Kallang River. In addition, we are embarking on designing a special nature trail along Keppel Club golf course, incorporating the Berlayer Creek which is a protected conservation area..

Our teachers, Mr Michael Lim and Ms Nadia, shared about the River Studies Programme in this year's MOE Excel Fest held at the Suntec City on 6th March 2010. Ms Jacinta Lim also shared on Placement Studies (along Kallang River) on 18th March at the Raffles Institution. Mr Jason Ang, Mr Michael Lim and Miss Nadia and their students represented the school at the World Water Day held on 21 March 2010 held along the Kallang river and the Marina Barrage.

International Water Day

The junior leaders of the Student Government body were at the Singapore River to do some cleaning up and to understand the importance of water conservation. Dr Yaacob Ibrahim, Minister for the Environment and Water Resources and Minister-in-charge of Muslim Affairs, was present for the occasion.

Activities For Our Staff

MASS EXERCISE TO DE-STRESS!

Based on a staff well being survey conducted in 2010, 14% of our staff do not participate in regular physical activity at all, so Staff Welfare decided to increase the number of staff who are participating in regular physical activity (of 30 minutes at least once a week) to 100% by year end.

There were 10 sessions of Mass Exercise for the whole year.

Our team of in-house instructors was headed by one of our PE teachers, Mr Alvin How. Mrs Yeo See Wan rewarded our teachers at the end of each exercise session with an organic fruit (apple or peaches or a fruit bar).

We also introduced the resistance band to encourage teachers to exercise at home or in the staffroom whenever or wherever they have some time on hand.

The Gym In the Pocket (GITP) is a effective exercise tool that can be used anywhere, any time for anyone at any fitness level. Some examples of the programmes are:

Express workout for busy executives
Tone and trim for ladies
Functional training for sports
Functional training for daily living
Fall prevention programme for the elderly

The possiblities are infinite and the exercises are fun and effective.

The GITP has an approved Singapore Sports Council Sports Education Programme for schools.We have already had two demo sessions from the GITP company who came down to conduct two very interesting sessions for the staff. So far, 60 resistance bands were acquired by the staff.

The programme was jointly subsidized by the school health promotion grant, which subsidized 50% of the cost of each item.

Rugby

'B' Div Rugby Report for Season 2009/2010

The season began in late May with a series of pre-season sessions to ascertain the abilities and levels of the players prior to the season. The team trained three times a week on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

With a squad of approximately 35 players, we had high hopes for the upcoming season. We discussed the season ahead and came up with a number of challenges to meet. The main objectives were to win the SCC 7s and defend our Police Cup championship.

15 players were selected to train for the SCC 7-a-side. The players put a lot of effort into training despite having to take their end-of-year examinations. They trained four times a week, including gym and track sessions, to maintain the skills and level of fitness required for 7s. As part of the preparation for SCC 7s, the team took part in the first-ever Saints 7s Under-16 competition. There were eight participating teams, including local and international schools, and two teams from Saints. We are proud to announce that our teams won the Cup and Plate competitions.

We did well in SCC 7s but lost to eventual champions, Gove NT from the Northern Territories, Australia, in the semi-finals.

The team went to Kuala Lumpur in December 2009 for their pre-season preparations where we played six friendly games. We lost the first two games but ended the tour with four wins in the remaining games. The Police Cup kicked off in late February 2010 with our curtain-raiser against Bedok South Secondary School where we won 80-3. The team grew in confidence over the course of the season and beat RI 50-3 to secure a place in the finals.

Playing in front of a large crowd which included many of their heroes from Saints, the finals were a dream come true for the players. We played like true Saints and did not give up even when we were down by one point late in the game. The match was a thrilling and dramatic encounter which ended with ACS(I) edging past us with a score of 8-7.

From the teachers and coaches: It has been an absolute pleasure working with these boys who have a promising future in the game. We would like to thank the parents and old boys for their support throughout the season, with many cheering us on at both home and away matches. Special thanks must go to the team captain, Jonathan Loo. He has truly been an asset to the team and we greatly appreciate his contribution this season.

On behalf of the team, we would like to thank our principal, Mrs Belinda Charles, for her unwavering support and invaluable advice over the years and wish her all the best in her future undertakings.

CUP
B DIVISION CUP

Rugby C Division

The C division rugby team had a long season. Training started in Oct 2009 with the incoming 2010 Direct School Admission students and our junior school boys. From Jan 2010 we were training up to four times a week. We played in our pre-season Kiwi Cup curtain raiser in February and lost to Raffles by 6-3. The team carried on training with the intention of playing better when they met again. They put in lots of hard work on the field, track and gym.

The team went to Kuala Lumpur in June for the final stretch of preparation before the start of the season. They played three friendly games, winning the last two games despite playing bigger and faster opposition. We lost the opening game to Alam Shah 20-10. In the remaining two games, we won 10-0 and 12-10. Ending the tour on a high note put us in a strong position to start our C division GKS campaign for 2010.

The team started the U-14 Dr Goh Keng Swee Shield in late June. The on-field performances were stronger when compared to previous years. They won the three first round games convincingly with a score line of 80-0. They stepped up a gear in the second round, putting in strong performances and keeping clean sheets for the next three games. They faced ACS(I) in the semi-final. The team was raring to go and they put in a creditable performance but eventually won 15-12. The boys kept fighting till the last minute of the game. They clinched the bronze medal by beating ACS(Barker) in their last match of the season.

Interact Club

The Interact Club is a Rotary-sponsored service club for young people. Made up of members ages 14-18 or secondary-school age, Interact gives young people an opportunity to participate in fun, meaningful service projects. Along the way, Interactors develop their leadership skills and initiative meeting new friends.

- Through their service activities, Interactors learn the importance of
- Developing leadership skills and personal integrity
- Demonstrating helpfulness and respect for others
- Understanding the value of individual responsibility and hard work
- Advancing international understanding and good will

The word Interact stands for "international action," and today nearly 200 000 young people in more than 110 countries belong to some 8 700 clubs, making Interact a truly international phenomenon. All over the world, young people are spreading fellowship and international understanding through a wide array of Interact service activities.

Achievements

2010 was a rather eventful year for the Sim Yeow Lim Library. We have seen several changes this year with respect to staffing, layout and reading collection.

We bade farewell and all the best to Mr Hussein Baroocha who left us to join Bedok South Secondary as their Librarian there. Management of the Library's day to day operations is now handled by Mr Kenneth Yeo.

Shortly before February, a call went out to the student cohort and teachers to submit a list of books that they would be interested in reading or would like to see added to our Library collection. After thorough vetting and armed with this list, the Staff-in-Charge of the Library made a trip to Kinokuniya to conduct the annual book purchasing exercise. Out of the initial 900 books selected, 300 books worth about S$5000 were selected and purchased for the Library.

Among the purchases for the Library were Robert Muchamore's Cherub series, Anthony Horowitz's Diamond Brothers Detective Agency books and Franklin W. Dixon's classic Hardy Boys adventure books. Their popularity with our younger readers and the occasional older reader was proven when these books were borrowed as soon as they hit the shelves.

2010 also saw the gradual expansion of our DVD collection. From a mere handful of titles at the start of the year, we have slowly but steadily increased the number of movie titles to more then 30. Popular tiles include James Cameron's Avatar, Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief, G.I. Joe, Ironman, Sherlock Holmes, and the ever classic Mind Your Language. These titles and others have been made available to the students for viewing in the School Library after curriculum hours.

The Library would also like to thank the following patrons, Mr Benjamin Lim Boon Chin and the Class of 1976 (4S1) for their generous donations. Benjamin was himself a former student-librarian during his time here as a student. We would like to thank him for his generous donation of S$2000 which has allowed us to purchase some new furniture for the Library.

Dr Lee from NTU engaging our boys for Shine On!

The Class of 1976 (4S1) have also generously agreed to the sponsorship of the following magazines: Discovery Channel, BBC Knowledge, Time, Popular Science and Popular Mechanics. This subscription sponsorship amounts to over S$500/- a year.

This year also saw a re-organisation of the space within the Library after a mid-year review. Students who went away in May and returned at the end June came back to a Library that was visually and physically more spacious. This incredible feat was done by the Student Librarians, under the guidance of Mr Yeo, during the June holidays.

Student Librarians have also begun taking over the day-to-day running of the Library in the afternoons under the supervision of Mr Yeo. The duties of the student librarians include the facilitating of loans and the return of library media, shelving of returned books, general maintenance of old books, collection and recording of fines as well as the maintenance of the Library premises.

In August, the library played host to the Primary 6 students from the Junior school during the National Day celebrations. Three movies from our DVD collection were screened, much to the delight of the younger boys. We look forward to seeing them in the Secondary School in 2011.

AniMania'10

After a successful year in 2009, the S.W.A.T. boys discovered they could use a couple more titles for the year 2010 with some humbling thoughts though...

SAINTS ARE CHAMPS!!

AniMania is an annual animation competition organized by CreativeBITS to provide a platform for artistic expression in animation. It gives recognition to talented animators with not only good technical capabilities, but also that spark of creativity and great storyline to bring life into animation.
After 2 successful competitions, SWAT members were far from tired, motivated to have a go at this competition.

With only 3 weeks of work, SWAT members comprising Juneous, Eric, new members Yu Sheng and Liivanesh, gathered all resources that they could use from previous lessons and emerged Champions for the SAILING CATEGORY in the Secondary Section.

Fellow team members who have supported and motivated the competing team, like Gin Wee, Clement, Wei Xiang and Pavithran, made it possible for the boys' third top 3 win in a row for 2009!

WHAT A WAY TO START THE FIRST YEAR OF COMPETITION!

KEEP IT UP, BOYS!

The 3D Graphics & Animation Competition is an annual competition jointly organised by Temasek Engineering School and IM Innovations Pte Ltd.

You may recall that Saints were Champions in the 2009 competition. This year however, we were 1st Runner-up. Our team from Mind Control Studios, who were, by the way eliminated from the finals last year, came out strong with an impressive performance on stage. Comprising team leader Eric Aw, Joshua Ang, Bryan Lim, Ng Yu Sheng (all from 2D) and Isaac Ng from 2B, they all charmed the audience and judges with their slick presentation of their winning video, a 1-minute animation with the title "Singapore Drinking", about the diverse tastes of the different communities in Singapore.

Not forgetting our 2nd team in the finals, Seventh Wave comprised only 3 members, team leader John Lim (1B), M. Livanesh (2N1) and Tee Jian Hong (2E), who gave an impressive debut performance. It was a refreshing experience, looking at new members to take up to an inter-school stage and bringing glory to the school in the form of a Merit award.

The competition also brought about a great sense of bonding with our family members, Mr and Mrs Lim(John's parents), our Vice-Principal Mr Goh Boon Pin, HOD Craft/Tech Ms Chua Xin Yuan , Prefect Master/2D form teacher Mr Jason Ang and old boys like Jovi Lum, Tan Zhao Han and the other SWAT members who had come to support the teams. One Family, Unbroken.

AN ADVENTURE IN SPACE

I blinked twice. As I looked across the barren landscape that seemed to last forever, many thoughts popped up in my brain.

"Where am I?" "Who am I?" were some of the many thoughts that rushed through my mind.

I smelt smoke and stood up. I spun round and my eyes widened. A junk of metal, which I assumed was a ship, lay on the ground, still smoldering. As I inched towards it, blurred images flashed through my mind. As I looked at the metal, I felt that I had seen it somewhere.

"Man.", I croaked. "I am stuck on this empty land with nothing but space junk. Curse it."

My lips were parched and I started to search the spaceship hoping, but knowing the effort would be fruitless to find water. As I searched the scrap metal, I realized that it was just one of the many cabins. It was a passenger cruise liner. The most luxurious passenger ship there ever was.

"What is it doing out here, all smashed?" I pondered. "I thought it is, was, the toughest space cruiser in the world."

As I continued digging, a page from a torn newspaper flew out. The picture below the headline caught my attention. It was I on it, just about to christen the 'Space Cruiser'.

As I read the article, more and more images flashed through my mind. They seemed vaguely familiar, but I could not recall anything else.

"Curse my amnesia." I spat. "I wondered what bright, intense lights, robotic dogs and champagne had to do with a crashed ship.

Though I was feeling really worked up, I felt a sense of contentment that I was the skipper of the 'Space Cruiser'.

It had been four hours since I awoke and my throat was dryer than Venus. Although the chances of water falling from the sky were less than the chances of a cockroach dying of nuclear radiation, it rained.

I opened my mouth and enjoyed the moisture in my mouth. Now that my throat was satisfied, I decided to get of this land. Immediately.

"Alright," I declared. "Firstly, I need to find out where I am. Stars, planets, constellations - I know - I am somewhere, lost. Secondly, try to contact the nearest planet with a control tower. Let's see. Hey, the crash-locating device is beeping. Now, all I have to do is to wait for my rescuers."

As the seconds ticked by, I grew impatient. As the hours went by, I grew frightened. Minutes seemed like hours and hours seemed like an eternity. As the optimism that I had grew thin, I heard a loud booming sound. I started waving.

"Captain Zeed, try to make smoke if you can hear us."

"My name is Captain Zeed?" I pondered, "Anyway, even if it isn't me, I have to get out of this place."

As I searched for a flammable object, the search ship came into view. At that moment, two wires joined, causing sparks everywhere, which caught the attention of the search ship.

Back in the spaceship control tower, President Gary greeted me with a smile and a large meal which I ate faster than you can say 'Mississippi'.

"Now, can you enlighten me on why the ship crashed?" He asked.

"I was about to ask you the same question." I replied. "Why don't we check the black box?

In the next few hours, I had my brain scanned to check for any damages. Apart from a temporary amnesia, I was fine. Whilst doing that, we checked.

Apparently, while cruising through space, a star exploded. The large amount of light created by the star caused a robotic dog to malfunction and it affected the ship to change its route. Luckily, I ejected and landed on a large meteor.

A few weeks later, I regained my memory. As I recalled my short stay on the meteor, I believe that it was the greatest adventure I ever had. It was my adventure in space.
